Rosenbergs, Silent to End, Are Executed at Sing Sing

SLAIN AS BERLIN RIOT INSTIGATOR. American, British and French commandants in West Berlin have denounced the execution of 35-year-old Willi Goettling (above), an unemployed East Berliner, as a sign of "brutality which will arouse the world's conscience." Goettling, shown with his wife and children, was executed by the Soviets for allegedly instigating the bloody Berlin riots.

Reds Admit Revolt Still Simmering

Wave of Strikes, Unrest Plagues East Germany

BERLIN (AP) — East Germany's leading Communist newspaper admitted today the Soviet zone is rocked by strikes and disorders and a U. S. general declared the Russians are trying to "Tamp down dynamite."

Maj. Gen. Thomas Timberman, American commander in Red-encircled West Berlin, said the Russians had brought in the major elements of two armored divisions, about 25,000 men of the 1st and 14th Divisions, to throttle rebellious East Berlin.

"These two divisions can tamp the place down for awhile," he told a news conference. "What happens then, I don't know. I do know what happens when you tamp down dynamite.

"I am certain that these Russian gunners with their tank muzzles staring down our throats know themselves that this is no solution to the overall problem," he added.

Communist officials claimed strikes and unrest were dying down after last Wednesday's riotous anti-Red outburst in which 100 Germans are rumored to have been killed.

But Neues Deutschland, the Communist party organ in East Germany, admitted chaotic conditions still prevailed. It said East Berlin was short of food because of "transport difficulties," a reference to a zone-wide strike by rail workers. It added that no vegetables were available and that "hoarder buying" had emptied stores.

It further disclosed that the huge Leuna synthetic gasoline refinery near Halle—swept by a huge fire Friday—was struck. The plant employs 23,000 workers.

The nearby Buna artificial rubber plant also was reported burning Friday.

Gasoline Price Boosted By Some Stations

One major oil company announced today a raise in gasoline prices and another company announced it will increase prices Tuesday.

The Standard Oil Company of Ohio raised the price of its regular gasoline a cent a gallon and its premium gasoline was boosted 1½ cents. The new price is 27.1 cents for regular gasoline and 29.6 cents for premium.

The Pure Oil Co. announced it will raise its prices one cent on the regular and one and three tenths cents on the premium Tuesday.

No other companies have as yet reported changes in price.

Sohio also increased heating oils eight tenths of a cent a gallon in price. The firm said the hikes followed a 30-cent-a-barrel increase in crude oil prices earlier this week.

New Condition Set on Truce

Reds Demand U.N. Recapture POWs Released by Rhee

MUNSAN (AP) — The Reds today angrily told the Allies if the U. N. wants a truce it must control South Korea's rebellious government and recapture 26,000 anti-Red war prisoners freed by President Syngman Rhee.

Although the Communists protested violently at Rhee's arbitrary action, they did not rule out an armistice.

But their terms appeared near impossible—the Korean prisoners have melted into the countryside with Rhee's blessing and the split between South Korea and the U. N. Command apparently was growing deeper.

South Korea's acting prime minister, Y. T. Pyun, made public a letter to Gen. Mark Clark, U. N. commander, demanding freedom for 9,000 anti-Reds left in Allied stockades. It was written Thursday, a few hours after the first big break.

Pyun said Rhee does not regard recent prisoner-exchange terms "equally binding on us" and warned Clark bluntly against "saying or doing anything that might likely provoke passions of the (Korean) masses, which once let loose may easily go out of control."

At almost the same time, Clark made public a letter written the same day blistering Rhee, and accusing him of breaking recent assurances that South Korea would make no arbitrary moves without consulting Clark.

Rhee's action has cracked the unity of the Allies and the Reds made the most of it.

The Communists listed their demands in a letter handed to the Allied truce delegation in a 25-minute meeting at Panmunjom. Addressed directly to Clark, it ended: "We are awaiting the reply of your side."

The Allied delegates made no answer and the meeting recessed indefinitely at Communist request, subject to call by either side.

(In Washington, U. S. officials had no comment, but said they expected a strong protest.)

In their letter, the Reds warned ominously, "Your side must bear the serious responsibility for this incident," and asked a series of blunt questions:

"Is the United Nations Command able to control the South Korean government and army?

"If not, does the armistice in Korea include the Syngman Rhee clique?

"If it is not included, what assurance is there for the implementation of the armistice agreement on the part of South Korea?

"If it is included, then your side must be responsible for recovering immediately all the 25,922 prisoners of war who are at liberty . . . and your side must give assurance that similar incidents will not recur in the future."

The Red total did not include 36 who escaped Friday night and Saturday.

The Reds repeated their charges that the Allies must have known beforehand of the release and therefore "connived" in the escapes.

The letter was signed by Kim Il Sung, North Korean Premier, and Red Chinese Gen. Peng Tehhuai.

An Allied spokesman said North Korean Gen. Nam Il read the letter with a flicker of tenseness, but no other sign of anger was displayed in the conference hut.

Later, Dr. Karl Hong Ki, a South Korean government spokesman, denounced the letter as "false accusation directed at the United States to cause a split between the U. S. and the Republic of Korea."

Clark's letter to Rhee was short but direct. He wrote that he could "not at this time estimate the ultimate consequences" of Rhee's "precipitous and shocking" act.

Clark said Rhee had personally assured both him and the U. S. ambassador to Korea, Ellis O. Briggs, that he woud not take any such action until "full and frank discussion with me" but "your actions today (Thursday) have clearly abrogated these assurances."

Two Drown At Mansfield

MANSFIELD, O. (AP)—A leaky boat carrying four Mansfield men in Mifflin Lake near here overturned Friday night. Two drowned. The others were saved.

The victims were Clarence Gilliam, 53, and Chester Gilliam, 35.

A bystander pulled Arthur Jordan, 26, to safety and the fourth person, George Davis Jr., 17, swam to shore.

Lake Central Announces Addition

New Flight Will Link Marion With Chicago

Direct airline service from Marion to Chicago will be provided beginning July 1, according to an announcement today by Dr. R. B. Stewart, president of Lake Central Airlines.

On this date, the airline—which inaugurated "local carrier service" to Marion on April 13— will complete its expansion program with the opening of the last segment of its routes in Ohio and Indiana with extensions into Pennsylvania and Michigan. These routes were approved for operation by the Civil Aeronautics Board Feb. 28.

The segment to be inaugurated July 1 is the route from Marion directly to Kokomo, Ind. This will combplete direct through plane service from Pittsburgh to Chicago with connections on other airlines to the east and west coasts, Dr. Stewart said. Stops in Indiana other than Kokomo will be a Gary and Lafayette.

Presently, persons living east and north of Marion flying to Chicago on Lake Central routes must go by way of Columbus, Springfield, Dayton, Richmond, Ind., to Kokomo, Ind., then Chicago.

Revised Schedule

Dr. Stewart also announced a revised flight schedule will become effective July 1. He said this new schedule will incorporate studies of the flow of air passengers along Lake Central routes during the first 45 days since the beginning of regularly scheduled local carrier service April 15.

"Careful consideration has been given to the two specific types of air transportation needs of the cities served by Lake Central,, he said. "We have attempted to fullfill to a more satisfactory degree the commuter type schedule for the local business man, and, in addition, have established the July 1 schedule to connect with as many scheduled airlines as possible in the terminal cities touched by Lake Central.

"Good connecting and fast commuter service are a must if we are to succeed as a local service carrier in the Indiana and Ohio region," he said.

Will Leave at 2:02

David McMahan, station manager at Marion Municipal Airport for the airline company, said that departure time from Marion on the through plane service to Chicago will be at 2:02 p.m. EST daily with arrival in Chicago at 3:43 p. m. CST. Eastbound passengers will leave Chicago at 8:10 a.m. CST and will arrive in Marion at 11:51 a.m. EST. This will increase the flights in and out of Municipal Airport to eight a day.

The new schedule on July 1 will change departure times of these daily flights only slightly, McMahan said. Specific departure times will be announced next week, Dr. Stewart said.

Since April 15, when Lake Central took over local carrier service to Marion Municipal Airport and Trans World Airlines discontinued its flights, a total of some 200 passengers have boarded flights at Municipal Airport, McMahan said. He reported there has been an air express shipment to or from Marion on nearly every flight each day.

DRUG CHAIN HEAD DIES

DAYTON, O. (AP)—J. Frank Gallaher, who built a drug store chain of 50 stores in Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia, died Friday night at his home here. He was 68. Gallaher, founded and was chairman of the board of the Gallaher Drug Co.

Mother at 10 Prefers Her Dolls to Baby

(Picture on Page 11)

YOUNGSTOWN, O. (AP) — A 10-year-old mother played with two dolls today in a home for unwed mothers while welfare authorities prepared to offer her six-day-old daughter for adoption.

The girl showed little interest in the baby and preferred the dolls she brought with her when she entered the Florence Crittenton Home last February, said Mrs. Esther Stuhlfire, home superintendent.

Mrs. Stuhlfire said the baby weighed just an ounce under six pounds. The fifth-grade mother, whose name was withheld, was so tense and frightened she was in labor 56 hours.

Father of the baby was a 50-year-old man who lived in the same apartment building and was a close friend of the little mother's foster parents, Mrs. Stuhlfire said.

The girl-mother's birth date is recorded as Feb. 13, 1943. She is five feet, three inches tall and weighs 115 pounds. The American Medical Association in Chicago said it knew of at least two American girls of 10 who had children through full-term births.

Blistering Heat Wave Moves East Into Ohio

By The Associated Press

Hot tropical winds from the Gulf of Mexico fanned a mass of blistering heat across the midcontinent again today.

Temperatures headed for the 90's and higher. Some relief was indicated in some areas of the sunbaked sections tomorrow—the first day of summer.

The summer season officially starts at 12 o'clock noon (EST) Sunday.

The hot air moved slowly eastward and generally warm weather prevailed in the eastern half of the country. But the hottest weather appeared stationary in the central part.

The oppressive heat extended over Mississippi, Louisiana, wide areas of Texas northward to Iowa

$55 Stolen in Daylight Burglary of Office

A total of $55 in currency was taken from the dental office of Dr. H. R. Finney in the Palace Theater Building during a break-in Friday afternoon.

Dr. Finney called Marion police at 1:02 p.m. when he returned to the office after the lunch hour. The break-in occurred during his lunch period.

Police said entry into the building was made by breaking a hole in the door beside the lock. Nothing else was damaged. The money was removed from an office cash drawer.

Dr. N. Sifritt To Retire As Health Chief

Dr. N. Sifritt, Marion County health commissioner since 1920, plans to retire July 1, H. Clay Smith, president of the Marion County Health Board, reported today.

Dr. Sifritt has served as health commissioner since that post was established on Feb. 1, 1920.

A practicing physician since 1896, Dr. Sifritt resides at 457 S. Main St.

A successor to Dr. Sifritt has not been named, Mr. Smith said.

Atomic Spies Face Death in Silence; Husband Dies First

Relman Morin of The Associated Press, the writer of the following story, was an official witness at the executions of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

By RELMAN MORIN

SING SING PRISON, OSSINING, N. Y. (AP) — Julius Rosenberg and his wife, Ethel walked quietly to the electric chair last night and were executed for the crime of delivering to Soviet Russia the secrets of the atomic bomb.

Neither of the condemned spies talked, nor attempted to talk, as the last moments came.

Both entered the death chamber in Sing Sing Prison—only a few moments apart—with a firm step and a stony face. They were executed shortly before sunset, so that the grim task would be finished before the beginning of the Jewish Sabbath.

It was the day after their 14th wedding anniversary.

They were the first non-military convicts in the history of the United States to be executed for espionage.

At the hour of retribution, crowds gathered, demonstrating, in New York, London and Paris. Hysterical sympathizers, screaming and crying, milled around a speaker's stand in New York's Union Square.

Street fights broke out in Paris, and several policemen were reported wounded. In London, thousands roved the streets, waving copies of the Communist newspaper, Daily Worker, which carried a single word in giant type—"Murder."

In Dublin, two bottles of kerosene were thrown through the window of the U. S. information office. They did not explode.

But in Ossining, where the prison is located, the night was quiet. Heavy details of police and state troopers, guarding temporary barricades, met no demonstrators.

As the fixed hour approached, two telephone lines were opened between the office of Warden Wilfred L. Denno and Washington —presumably to be in touch with the White House and the office of Attorney-General Herbert Brownell.

The Rosenbergs spent most of their last day together. Warden Denno said they talked from about noon to 6:20 p. m. (EST) in the woman's wing of the prison. They were separated by a wire screen.

The party of official witnesses entered the death chamber a few moments before 7 p. m. (EST). It is a square room. Behind the electric chair was a white, wheeled table. In' fron twere four rows of benches, like pews in a church.

The room was heavy with silence. From overhead, the lights beamed on the electric chair.

A moment later, a voice was heard in the corridor leading in from the death chamber. It was low but distinct.

Then Rabbi Irving Koslowe entered. He wore black robes with a white praying shawl around his shoulders and the rabbinical hat. As he came in, he was intoning the words of the 23rd psalm. . . "The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want."

Rosenberg was a step behind him. It was about 7:02 (EST).

The executions were so arranged that husband and wife would not know when the other went down the corridor. Had Ethel Rosenberg gone first, she would have passed her husband's cell.

Rosenberg, 35, wore dark brown trousers, a white undershirt with short sleeves, and low slippers without heels.

His moustache had been shaved off. His glasses were removed.

His face was a blank. His eyes appeared not to see any of the people in the room nor any of its details.

But he turned, without guidance, to the electric chair and sat down quietly.

Rabbi Koslowe moved to the left of the chair, beside the witness' benches. He kept his eyes on the prayer book. His voice dropped to a whisper. He prayed steadily, and twice kissed the book.

The black helmet was placed on Rosenberg's head. Then the black straps were fixed around his chest, and the other electrode was set against his right leg. The trouser had been slit, so that the leg was bare from the knee down.

The guards stepped away. A signal was given to the executioner, Joseph Francell, in an alcove to the left of the room.

A metallic rattle sounded. It sounded like marbles rolling down a metal washboard. Then it stopped. The room was filled with a humming buzz.

Rosenberg's chest bulged, straining against the straps. His fists clenched in tight knots. His neck and shoulders turned crimson.

There were three massive charges of electricity. The first lasted three seconds, the second and third 57 seconds each. He was dead in two and three-quarters minutes.

The humming stopped. It was 7:06 and three quarters (EST).

Two guards stepped to the chair and swiftly unbuckled the straps. Two physicians, Dr. H. W. Kipp and Dr. George McCracken, approached with stethoscopes. McCracken ripped the undershirt, exposing Rosenberg's chest.

They listened for a long moment. Then Dr. Kipp said, "I pronounce this man dead."

The body was lifted onto the white table and wheeled out of the room.

A guard moved to the door leading to the corridor. He left it open an inch or two and stood there, listening.

About three minutes later, Rabbi Koslowe's voice again came from

Two Aged Women Bow Down With Grief

Mrs. Greenglass Collapses at Daughter's Death

By MARTIN POST

NEW YORK (AP) — Flickering candles, age-old symbols of Jewish Sabbath piety—and of mourning—cast shadows over the bent form of a bewildered, grieving old woman.

The woman, Mrs. Tessie Greenglass, collapsed last night as she learned her daughter, Ethel, and son-in-law, Julius Rosenberg, had been executed as atom spies. A doctor rushed to her side.

The candles' rays shone dimly through the neat, lace-work curtains of Mrs. Greenglass' humble, Lower East Side tenement home.

Far uptown, in Washington Heights, another aged mother, Mrs. Sophie Rosenberg, was told that her son had paid the supreme penalty for betraying his country. A doctor came here, too, to spend the night with the shaken, 71-year-old woman.

In Toms River, N. J., two youngsters, Michael and Robert Rosenberg, aged 10 and 6, played on a farm that has been their home for a year and a half.

Michael reportedly learned from a news bulletin, broadcast while he watched a baseball game on television, that his parents were to die before sundown.

In Washington, New York and elsewhere, officials and judges maintained a vigil. There was always the possibility, though slim, that the Rosenbergs might have talked at the last moment to save themselves.

And in New York's famed Union Square, a throng of more than 5,000 demonstrated in the Rosenbergs' behalf, acting out to the end a scene that had become almost commonplace in the two years since the atom spy team was convicted.

The rally had been called as a prayer meeting. It was, instead, a shrill denunciation of the death sentence.

As the announced hour of the execution arrived, the crowd verged on the hysterical. Screams filled the air. A woman fell to the pavement beating it with her fists. Another woman fainted and was carried away.

The demonstration turned into a parade of mourning, but police broke the procession into fragments and small groups wandered off, some weeping, some singing sad spirituals.

Over their heads a group of people peered from the windows of a building.

Waving American flags the onlookers shouted:

"Go home, you Communist bastards, go home you Communist rats."

Eventually the crowd dispersed, leaving the ground littered with copies of a handbill that asked President Eisenhower for clemency.

At the 11th hour, another dramatic scene was enacted in the guarded chamber of Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman.

A lawyer, like so many before him, appeared before the judge who had presided over the Rosenberg trial and pronounced sentence, and asked for a writ of habeus corpus.

And the judge, minutes before the execution, wearily turned the request down, as he and his colleagues all the way to the U. S. Supreme Court had done so many times before.

The execution brought bitter comment from "The National Committee to Secure Justice in the Rosenberg Case," a group that has sought a new trial for the doomed pair or, failing that, a reduction of the death sentence.

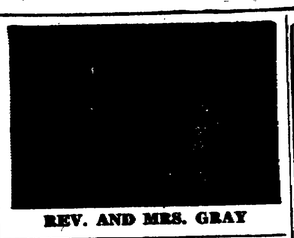
Pastor, Wife Conduct Evangelistic Services

The Rev. Charles Gray and Mrs. Gray of Dennison, O., are the special workers for the evangelistic meetings at the Maranatha Bible Church opening Sunday. They have been engaged in Vacation Bible School supervision here this week. The services will continue through July 5.

Each night there will be a hymn sing at 7:30. Mrs. Gray will present music on the organ, vibraharp, electric chimes, and musical bells and the guest minister will give the messages. There will be numbers by musicians from Marion, Miss Loretta Caskey, pianist, Mrs. Avalyn Fogle, organist, pianist, and soloist, Miss Barbara Newsome and Vern Griffith; soloists, and Gloyd Dearth, playing violin and musical saw. The church bus will make a trip northeast and southwest in the city for each service with Ernest and Gloyd Dearth as the drivers.



REV. AND MRS. GRAY

Church Briefs

Other churches taking part will be the Church of God, the Marion congregation of the Church of God of America, and the Pentecostal Church of Christ. The speaker and his wife, who have spent one term in India, are preparing to return there in the near future.

—:—

The Rev. Ashley Booth will conduct the regular services of the Trinity Baptist Church on Sunday morning at 10:30. The topic of the sermon will be "That for Which We Must Strive."

—:—

The 200 workers in the victory campaign now being conducted in Emanuel Lutheran Church will report at the fourth dinner meeting at 6:30 p.m. Monday in the church parlors.

—:—

For midweek service of First EUB Church Wednesday night, the lesson study will be on "A Prayer Surprise" from Acts, conducted by the pastor, S. A. Hill is class leader. Monday night, the Sunday School Council will meet, and on Tuesday night, the Builders Class meeting will be held. Confident Living

Have You Prayed About It?

By Norman Vincent Peale

This is the story of a father whose problems with his child led him to an invention, which, with the help of prayer, has become a $2,000,000 a year business. And, as such, the story is particularly appropriate for this Father's Day week end when we pay tribute to fathers everywhere.

Arnold Emanuel Peterson lives in Glendale, Cal. Before World War II, he was in construction work, and then, during the war, he went to work as a machinist in an aircraft plant. While working there, he became conscious of a minor problem in his family. His wife had trouble getting the baby's stroller into the family car. And even when he tried himself, it was almost as difficult.

DR. PEALE

As a machinist, he was of an inventive turn of mind. Thinking about the problem of the baby's stroller, he invented a collapsible stroller. His first model, however, was a failure; he didn't seem to be able to design a satisfactory collapsing hinge. Peterson had always been a religious man; he had developed the habit of praying for help. So, faced with this problem, he prayed for help and kept on praying. Then, one night in his sleep, he saw the perfect hinge for his purposes. As soon as he awakened the next morning, he drew plans for the hinge he had seen in his dream. He had it made up and it worked; his collapsible baby stroller was complete.

AFTER THE WAR he decided to manufacture these baby buggies for general sale. He put all his savings into the venture, but lost thousands of dollars in the first months because he was unable to establish his product in retail stores. He kept praying and trying and gradually the strollers began to sell. Today, his business is profitable enough to have enabled him to give over $100,000 to various church activities.

Peterson keeps a Bible in his office and holds daily prayer meetings each morning for his staff. They pray together for help in solving problems and boast that their prayers have cnaoled them to keep going, even in times when materials were short and there was danger of having to shut down production. On the walls of his office, Peterson keeps a sign which says, "Have you prayed about it"

YOU MAY BE ASKING yourself where I found Mr. Peterson's story. Did it come from a religious publication or from testimony at some prayer meeting? No, it did not. It came from a magazine edited for and read by the nation's leading business executives, "Fortune," which is devoted to telling people in business how our American system operates in practice. The headline over the story reads, "Prayers for Profits." That title, however, does not seem to indicate the real meaning of the story. He didn't pray to make profit, but to render a service. A worthwhile service usually results in a profitable outcome.

The system Mr. Peterson and his associates use is not a new one. I have written often that the only way to succeed in business or, for that matter, in any venture is to take in God as your partner. If you make Him your business adviser, all must go well for you.

THE SIGN in Mr. Peterson's office asks a question you would do well to think about every time you face a problem. Have you prayed about it? Prayer and faith can lead you to that state of mind which is productive of solutions to your problems.

Why not start now to take God in as your partner? List your problems and ask yourself, "Have I prayed about each of these?" If you haven't, it's never too late to begin. Start today to solve your problems the prayer way.

America the Beautiful VACATIONLAND

BAMBI comes to life for these small visitors to a Wisconsin farm housing a Badger State deer herd.

Mrs. Dutt Re-elected Head Of Council Of Church Women

Mrs. Fred Dutt was re-elected president of the Marion County Council of Church Women Wednesday at Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church. Following the election, the officers were installed by the Rev. Ashley G. Booth of Central Christian Church. Mrs. Dutt is a member of Calvary EUB Church.

Chosen to serve with her were Mrs. Edith Bush of Wesley Methodist Church, vice president; Mrs. Richard Slack of Calvary Church, recording secretary; Mrs. Foster Pacific of Epworth Methodist Church, corresponding secretary; Mrs. G. G. Nuetzel of First Evangelical and Reformed Church, treasurer. The nominating committee was composed of Mrs. Blanche Bartlett, Mrs. Darl Caldwell, Mrs. E. H. Burnap, Mrs. E. M. Breithaupt, Mrs Elmer Myers and Mrs. Leo Keller.

For the installation service, the Rev. Mr. Booth used as Scripture reference First Kings 19:19. He said, "When Elijah put his mantle on Elisha, it meant that Elisha was an adopted son, a prophet and a leader. You, the elected officers, are receiving the mantle of leadership from those who have served before. There must be a calling to serve God in addition to the election. Though you may feel that you are not equal to the office or that you have not had the training to do the task, God expects humility of those who serve him."

Reports for the year were given. Members named to attend the convention of United Council of Church Women at Denison University at Granville June 23-25 were Mrs. Dutt, Mrs. W. E. Miley, Mrs. Bush, Mrs. Keller, Mrs. H. J. Klinefelter and Mrs. Pearl Crall.

Women from the entertaining church taking part were Mrs. Arlie Porter, in charge of registration, Mrs. George Reinwald Jr. and Mrs. Paul Kurtz, ushers, and, participating in the worship service, Mrs. L. H. Ludwig, who sang, accompanied by Mrs. Merwin Crandall. Mrs. Keller led devotions, using the story of the woman who anointed the feet of Christ at the feast of Simon to bring out a comparison between gratitude and thanklessness. She said, "Mary showed her love for Jesus by giving unsparingly of the expensive ointment. Love is extravagant, it doesn't count the cost. This was Mary's memorial. Lazarus was at the feast also and could have had so much to say after being raised from the dead, but he isn't even quoted as saying 'thank you'." This was the last council meeting until fall. First meeting of the new season will be the third Wednesday in September. The excutiv commnandtite tember. The executive committee will meet in August.

Ames Elected Commander Of Commandery

Winthrop P. Ames of 269 Johnson St., was elected and installed as eminent commander of Marion Commandery No. 36, Knights Templar, at the 73rd annual conclave of the commandery held at the Masonic Temple Thursday night.

Confident Living

Have You Prayed About It?

By Norman Vincent Peale

This is the story of a father whose problems with his child led him to an invention, which, with the help of prayer, has become a $2,000,000 a year business. And, as such, the story is particularly appropriate for this Father's Day week end when we pay tribute to fathers everywhere.

Arnold Emanuel Peterson lives in Glendale, Cal. Before World War II, he was in construction work, and then, during the war, he went to work as a machinist in an aircraft plant. While working there, he became conscious of a minor problem in his family. His wife had trouble getting the baby's stroller into the family car. And even when he tried himself, it was almost as difficult.

DR. PEALE

As a machinist, he was of an inventive turn of mind. Thinking about the problem of the baby's stroller, he invented a collapsible stroller. His first model, however, was a failure; he didn't seem to be able to design a satisfactory collapsing hinge. Peterson had always been a religious man; he had developed the habit of praying for help. So, faced with this problem, he prayed for help and kept on praying. Then, one night in his sleep, he saw the perfect hinge for his purposes. As soon as he awakened the next morning, he drew plans for the hinge he had seen in his dream. He had it made up and it worked; his collapsible baby stroller was complete.

AFTER THE WAR he decided to manufacture these baby buggies for general sale. He put all his savings into the venture, but lost thousands of dollars in the first months because he was unable to establish his product in retail stores. He kept praying and trying and gradually the strollers began to sell. Today, his business is profitable enough to have enabled him to give over $100,000 to various church activities.

Peterson keeps a Bible in his office and holds daily prayer meetings each morning for his staff. They pray together for help in solving problems and boast that their prayers have enabled them to keep going, even in times when materials were short and there was danger of having to shut down production. On the walls of his office, Peterson keeps a sign which says, "Have you prayed about it"

YOU MAY BE ASKING yourself where I found Mr. Peterson's story. Did it come from a religious publication or from testimony at some prayer meeting? No, it did not. It came from a magazine edited for and read by the nation's leading business executives, "Fortune," which is devoted to telling people in business how our American system operates in practice. The headline over the story reads, "Prayers for Profits." That title, however, does not seem to indicate the real meaning of the story. He didn't pray to make profit, but to render a service. A worthwhile service usually results in a profitable outcome.

The system Mr. Peterson and his associates use is not a new one. I have written often that the only way to succeed in business or, for that matter, in any venture is to take in God as your partner. If you make Him your business adviser, all must go well for you.

THE SIGN in Mr. Peterson's office asks a question you would do well to think about every time you face a problem. Have you prayed about it? Prayer and faith can lead you to that state of mind which is productive of solutions to your problems.

Why not start now to take God in as your partner? List your problems and ask yourself, "Have I prayed about each of these?" If you haven't, it's never too late to begin. Start today to solve your problems the prayer way.

America the Beautiful VACATIONLAND

BAMBI comes to life for these small visitors to a Wisconsin farm housing a Badger State deer herd.

Mrs. Dutt Re-elected Head Of Council Of Church Women

Mrs. Fred Dutt was re-elected president of the Marion County Council of Church Women Wednesday at Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church. Following the election, the officers were installed by the Rev. Ashley G. Booth of Central Christian Church. Mrs. Dutt is a member of Calvary EUB Church.

Chosen to serve with her were Mrs. Edith Bush of Wesley Methodist Church, vice president; Mrs. Richard Slack of Calvary Church, recording secretary; Mrs. Foster Pacific of Epworth Methodist Church, corresponding secretary; Mrs. G. G. Nuetzel of First Evangelical and Reformed Church, treasurer. The nominating committee was composed of Mrs. Blanche Bartlett, Mrs. Darl Caldwell, Mrs. E. H. Burnap, Mrs. E. M. Breithaupt, Mrs Elmer Myers and Mrs. Leo Keller.

For the installation service, the Rev. Mr. Booth used as Scripture reference First Kings 19:19. He said, "When Elijah put his mantle on Elisha, it meant that Elisha was an adopted son, a prophet and a leader. You, the elected officers, are receiving the mantle of leadership from those who have served before. There must be a calling to serve God in addition to the election. Though you may feel that you are not equal to the office or that you have not had the training to do the task, God expects humility of those who serve him."

Reports for the year were given. Members named to attend the convention of United Council of Church Women at Denison University at Granville June 23-25 were Mrs. Dutt, Mrs. W. E. Miley, Mrs. Bush, Mrs. Keller, Mrs. H. J. Klinefelter and Mrs. Pearl Crall.

Women from the entertaining church taking part were Mrs. Arlie Porter, in charge of registration, Mrs. George Reinwald Jr. and Mrs. Paul Kurtz, ushers, and, participating in the worship service, Mrs. L. H. Ludwig, who sang, accompanied by Mrs. Merwin Crandall. Mrs. Keller led devotions, using the story of the woman who anointed the feet of Christ at the feast of Simon to bring out a comparison between gratitude and thanklessness. She said, "Mary showed her love for Jesus by giving unsparingly of the expensive ointment. Love is extravagant, it doesn't count the cost. This was Mary's memorial. Lazarus was at the feast also and could have had so much to say after being raised from the dead, but he isn't even quoted as saying 'thank you'." This was the last council meeting until fall. First meeting of the new season will be the third Wednesday in September. The excutiv commnandtite tember. The executive committee will meet in August.

Between 50 and 60 children attend the daily program conducted daily Monday through Friday. In charge of the playground this summer are Miss Beth Collis, director and Miss Patricia Craven, co-director.

The playground has been reconditioned and cleared of the winter grime, and equipment repaired and put in shape for the season. Games include pingpong, volley ball, shuffleboard, badminton, uni-goal, and other recreational games and sports. Time also is taken for rest and at this time the children are entertained with stories and films. Surprise events include trips to the park for picnics and visits to local plants.

The playground opened Monday night, June 15 with a program, wiener roast and movie.

Rosenberg Case Cost U.S. Plenty

Hold 2 Clevelanders In Shakedown Try

CLEVELAND (AP)—FBI agents arrested two Lakewood men Friday night in connection with an attempt to shake down a Cleveland forging company president by a threat that his firm's contract to make tank treads for the Detroit ordnance district might be cancelled.

Edward J. P. Komar, 58, was charged with asking a payment of $5,000 from Stephen Ollok of South Euclid, president of the Bessemer Forging Co. Oliver W. Walther, 61, also was arrested and charged with witnessing the bribe request and not reporting it.

Komar works in the property acquisition department of the Cleveland ordnance district, and Walther is an expediter for the Cleveland ordnance district.

School Heads Report Lack Of Teachers

The teaching shortage which has enveloped the state of Ohio is not going unnoticed in the Marion City and County School system. Both city and county school officials are encountering difficulty in filling out their faculties for next year.

Lester Dickey, city superintendent, said more teaching vacancies exist in the local system than have been encountered for "as far back as I can remember." He added the city school listed 43 vacancies at the end of the school year two weeks ago. However, he added, about half of those posts have been filled.

The most acute problem is contracting elementary grade teachers, he said. Twenty-four of the vacant posts were in the lower grades. Several posts also remain to be filled at the secondary level, mostly in the special fields such as music, crafts and arts.

D. T. Mills said the county schools need 12 teachers at the present time. He described that as a normal situation. He pointed out the 40 vacancies were filled in the 12 schools last year. At the end of this year, a total of 23 vacant posts were reported. Eleven of these already have been filled.

Mills reported vacancies were available for a mathematics and physical science teacher, two mathematics and industrial arts instructors, two music directors, four elementary teachers, a school superintendent and two English-Spanish teachers.

Besides winning the Second Air Force prize, Major Farrington's story this year was awarded first place in the contest held at his duty station Lockbourne Air Force Base, Columbus.

Major Farrington is married and has two children. His family lives with him in Columbus.

CONVICTED OF MURDER

Talk on Depot Given Y Men By Col. Phelan

Commander Tells Of Work of Engineer Corps Installation

Col. John Phelan, commanding officer of the Marion Engineer Depot, in a talk to the Y Men's Club Thursday night gave a general description of the Depot, its various departments and the activities of each.

He likened the Depot to the city of Marion, with a water system, sewage, street department, fire and police. He added that the Depot belongs to the people, the taxpayers, and stressed we should be interested in its work. Approximately 80 per cent of the employees are Marion persons, Col. Phelan said, while the others are from Richwood, Green Camp, Waldo and surrounding area.

The Depot area covers 640 acres, has 56 structures for storage, shops, administrative offices and restaurant, 14 miles of roads, 20 miles of railroads. Although the Depot has an authorized 1,300 employees, the current strength stands at 1,232.

Average monthly payroll amounts to about $375,000. This is approximately $4 million yearly, while the procurement service spends nearly another million dollars, the speaker said.

The Depot is the second largest institute in the Engineer Supply System from a storage viewpoint, and is the largest tonnage. Storage at present is valued in excess of $100 million.

The Depot has a record of having no major fires since it was opened in 1942, Col. Phelan told his audience. Fire equipment has been sent to Galion, Bucyrus and Marion several times for use at fires there. Besides the Depot, the fire department has four other locations to serve; housing at Industrial School; Scioto Laboratory, the atomic energy plant operated by Monsanto Chemical Co.; warehouse site behind the atomic energy plant, occupied now by the Air Force and Municipal Airport.

Depot employees have participated in many community activities, he said.

Boasting an outstanding safety record the Depot has 1,356,000 man hours with no lost time accidents. The railroad crew also has an unusual record, Col. Phelan added. An 18-man group with two locomotives and eighteen cars, it has a 3,300-day no lost time accident record.

The Depot has one of the largest shops in the country for repair and maintenance of equipment and has a standing record of lowest operating cost. For more than one year it repaired more equipment at a lower cost than any of the other Depots in the system, he said.

Col. Phelan told his audience that group tours through the Depot will be conducted upon pre-arranged schedule.

Inside Labor

Anti-U.S. Feeling

By Victor Riesel

We all know why the world loves the chips in our pockets — but now it is rapidly becoming a matter of national life and death for us to discover why the world has a chip on its shoulder when it sees our troops, our airbase construction workers and our diplomats abroad.

RIESEL

Ever since the Italian election, a small group, including this columnist, has communicated with men stationed across the globe to learn why we couldn't win a popularity contest in a race with a locust swarm in any country.

No one really knows why — but one thing is certain. We're disliked. We're resented. Some psychiatrist will have to explain why.

WE CAN only report that even our 200,000 civilian construction workers abroad are being stoned and scorned, hounded and insulted, snubbed and told to go home — from Iceland to Japan.

The U.S. is building a new bomber base, for example, near Keflavik, second city in Iceland. We went to considerable trouble to make certain that at least two Icelanders were hired for every one of the 500 skilled workers we sent up to that Arctic bastion.

Still, the authorities there assign only six policemen to stave off almost daily beatings of our men. The phrase "lousy Americans" is standard jargon.

Any U.S. construction worker caught fighting is jailed and later warned by the authorities "to go home if he doesn't like it in Iceland."

-:-

I'VE SEEN documents in the Construction Men's Assoc. files in which our men, most of them AFL workers, complained, "Icelandic waitresses in the American mess hall serve their own countrymen first, but make Americans wait unduly long for service and then serve only cold, greasy and almost inedible food."

Complaints bring vitriolic retorts. Frequently the girls will call for the guards, also Icelanders. If the Americans continue to protest, they are ejected.

On the streets the men are ignored and treated as pariahs. Apparently this cold shoulder is not endemic to Iceland.

The treatment is just as bitter in the British Isles. In fact, so utterly intolerable became the actions towards our GIs and construction and maintenance men in England recently that even the usually anti-American section of the British Labor party (led by Aneurin Bevan) protested officially to their own countrymen.

BEVAN'S mouthpiece is the Tribune, a tabloid which doesn't exactly specialize in subtleties when commenting on international affairs.

Not too long ago, for example, it praised Pravda's attack on President Eisenhower. Yet even this publication a few weeks back protested that the British treatment of American GIs is brutal. The writer appealed to the British sense of fair play. He urged them not to turn their backs on our Air Force men when the boys enter a pub.

The editorialist urged his countrymen not to turn on their heels in railroad stations when our men ask directions. He said he had personally seen British folk deliberately slam house doors in the faces of GIs.

All this and more is revealed by returning members of the Construction Men's Assoc. At least 75 of them have brought back reports that they've been physically assaulted even in Paris.

The bus used by an American oil company to transport American overseas personnel from the Orly Airport to a Paris hotel is stoned regularly each trip.

THESE PHYSICAL assaults are reported happening right across the globe. Most recently, the Association heard from its people in India that they were encountering violence there for the first time.

In fact, only in Pakistan are our men and soldiers warmly received in the Orient. Evidence that Oriental bitterness is strong can be seen in a report from Tokyo which was pigeonholed recently to prevent any reaction in the U.S.

In an effort to speed fortification on the Japanese islands so we'd have bases to fall back on once we leave Korea, the U. S. Army leased some sand strip land at Uchinada, Japan. There was virtual rebellion.

The Tokyo government swiftly dispatched three trouble shooters to mollify the agitated farmers. This mission was scheduled to go to the nearby city of Kanazawa. They were tipped off by security police to get off at Isurugi, two stations short of their destination.

AT LEAST 2,000 Japanese were demonstrating at Kanazawa, holding aloft the crude straw-mat flags — traditional symbols of farmers' opposition.

When last heard from, the Tokyo officials were threatening to seize the strips forcibly for us.

There are hundreds of such incidents occurring regularly across the globe. We'd better learn quickly why our own propagandists failed so badly that those whom we'd defend are the first to offend us.

Scout Camping Session Ends

Second Period Will Begin Sunday

First session of the summer camp for Boy Scouts and Explorers of the Harding Area Council closed today at Camp Owens and the second camping period is to get underway Sunday.

Awards were given Scouts Friday night and today. Scouts received camp emblems for attendance and various merit badges they earned during the week and were recognied for first and second class work completed.

Closing night campfire, which consisted of ceremonies and songs, was held Friday night. The Silver Nugget Scramble, which is competition among the troops in various skills, was held Friday afternoon with Scouts receiving silver colored rocks for accomplishments in the various events. Competition was in the axe yard, rope yard, demonstration area, rifle range, and in archery, fire building and physical fitness.

Dean Johnson, district council Scout executive and camp director, reported that the first camping session was attended by 35 Scouts. Some 90 Scouts from eight troops will attend the second camping period, which will open with a vesper service and Sunday night Indian campfire.

Johnson said approximately 200 parents, Scout leaders and friends attended visitors night campfire Wednesday. The Scouts put on an Indian dance, sang songs, presented stunts, and took part in a water show in the old swimming pond.

Scout officials report excavation for the new swimming pool at Camp Owens is completed and that the new steel pool has arrived here and is ready for installation. The draining system is being laid and the work is progressing on schedule. Officials hope to have the pool completed for part of the summer program.

Church Group Plans New Building

Excavation is being done for the foundation of a new building for worship of the Pentecostal Full Gospel Mission congregation at Polk and E. Fairground Sts.

For more than a year and a half, members have held services at 401 W. Center St., the former location of the old Denman's Drygoods Store, since organization by the pastor, the Rev. Raymond Mitchell. The local group is associed with Pentecostal Church of God denomination. At present, Sunday School attendance is around 90. George Sparks is superintendent.

Volunteer labor will be used in putting up the 40x60 foot concrete block structure. When completed, it will seat about 300.

SATURDAY, JUNE 20, 1953

On a Point of Law

The point of law cited by Justice Douglas as his reason for staying the execution of the Rosenbergs failed to stand up with six members of the Supreme Court—a two-thirds majority.

Since the point was a technicality concerning the Rosenbergs' indictment and not the crime for which they were indicted, there could have been exactly the same outcome of their case if it had been retried.

They still could have been given the death sentence, and it had been only the death sentence which had been challenged. It has not been asserted by even their staunchest defenders that the Rosenbergs did not eagerly and systematically gather and pass on to a foreign government information which they had no right to possess.

Justice Douglas was critized harshly for his granting of a stay of execution. The criticism was unwarranted. If he had discovered something in the law which had been disregarded improperly, it was his duty to call it to attention. If the Supreme Court did not share his opinion, the lives which the Rosenbergs had placed in forfeit by their crime could still be claimed.

Rule by Terror

One, two or a dozen riots in the Soviet Union's satellite states do not mean the captives of the Communist conspiracy are about to break loose.

But it obviously does mean that the conspiracy's captives have not been cowed into helplessness by Red terror. It means, as riots in United States prisons meant the last two years, that the captives are in a position to wring concessions from their harassed captors.

Rule by terror has been developed highly by the authoritarians of Communism, Nazism and Fascism. They have drawn heavily on psychology for their effectiveness. They have tried to hold captive both the bodies and minds of their prisoners.

They have had unprecedented success but not complete success. The spark of revolt which is never completely extinguished in the minds of human beings who want to be free is still glowing. It would have destroyed the Nazis and Fascists had they not been destroyed by other means.

The Reds may be startled by the heat it generates when it is fanned by a little excitement. That same heat has been destroying despotism from the beginning of history. It is the chronic enemy of despotism — the reason why self-government finally supplanted despotism which had been proved inefficient.

Lizzie Always Ran

The golden anniversary of Henry Ford's world-famous automobile enterprise is currently being celebrated as though a milestone in show business had been reached.

What the elder Ford started half a century ago was an era in engineering. There would have been automobiles in any event; he didn't originate that idea. His contribution was automobiles that could be relied on to run, day after day, month after month and year after year.

Until he proved that the new mechanical godevils could be as reliable as the horses they were destined to displace, the livery-stable business was safe. But when every cloud of dust on the unimproved roads of the time began to contain a "Tin Lizzie", the stablemen began to learn the rudiments of valve-grinding and coil-testing.

All automobiles now can be relied on to run. It is not uncommon for them to rattle along 100,000 miles through three or four ownerships. They need maintenance, to be sure — but so did the horses which preceded them. They nearly always do what they're supposed to do. They are reliable.

That is a characteristic that Henry Ford added to them in their infancy when they threatened to become notoriously unreliable.

Philosopher President

If these were more reasonable times and things could be seen whole, instead of in the shreds and remnants which are all that survive impassioned differences of opinion, the emergence of a philosopher-president of the United States would be momentous news.

It would be pointed to as a significant development in the evolution of self-government. Remarks like those made by President Eisenhower at Dartmouth College last Sunday would be studied with objective appreciation.

There would be no impulse to take out of context one shred of comment dealing with book-burning and toss it on the roaring fire of controversy. The remarks would be taken at face value in their entirety as the wisdom of a man who, having lived successfully, wants to share what he has learned with others.

"Unless each day can be looked back upon by an individual as one in which he has had some fun, some joy, some real satisfaction, that day is a loss," President Eisenhower said at Dartmouth. "It is un-Christian and wicked, in my opinion, to allow such a thing to occur."

If the time should come when things may be seen whole, it then would be comprehended that Dwight Eisenhower was not being a politician when he talked in 1952 of a moral crusade in the United States.

Two Points of View

By David Lawrence

U.S., Korean Positions on Prisoner Release

Looked at from the American side, the government of the Republic of Korea broke faith with the United Nations command and took a military action on its own when it released anti-Communist prisoners of war.

Looked at from the point of view of the Korean government, however, this was the right of an ally which had been threatened with the loss of its territorial integrity and particularly with coercion unless it signed an armistice that it bitterly opposed.

Looked at from the Korean government's point of view also, any armistice agreement which stipulated that 5,000 troops from India should be permitted in South Korea to police prison camps was a humiliation that could not be borne. To imply that the Korean government should accept the services of a country admittedly hostile to Korea was a serious blow to the pride of the republic.

For India, though a member of the United Nations, has chosen to call itself "neutral," when everybody knows that Prime Minister Nehru, by his public statements favoring the immediate admission of Red China into the U.N. and refusal to ban shipments of strategic goods to Red China, has already prejudged the merits of the dispute.

The South Korean government is not a member of the United Nations and, according to a statement by its president, has not been permitted to be a direct party to the truce negotiations.

Failing to secure truce terms that would assure the unification of Korea and failing particularly to obtain an acceptance of the demand that all troops except Koreans of the north and south be withdrawn, President Rhee felt that he had a free hand. He did not feel bound as a sovereign government to an alliance which he felt had deserted him.

The American government, on the other hand, in the statement issued by the secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, after a conference with President Eisenhower, denounces the release of the prisoners by the Korean government as a "unilateral action" and as having been taken "in violation of the authority of the United Nations command to which the Republic of Korea had agreed."

There is no question about the fact that, when allies agree to any course of action, they are obligated to notify each other of the termination of such an alliance. Since President Rhee has announced that he would not accept the armistice terms, and unquestionably has a legal right to separate is army from the United Nations command with or without notification, there is nevertheless a moral obligation to maintain a relationship of complete frankness with the United States government.

All sorts of reasons justifying the course that the Korean president took can, of course, be made, including the provocative steps of the last several days when, despite his announced intention to maintain a resistance to the truce, the impression was conveyed that he would be forced to accept the truce terms anyway and that economic aid and other assistance would be withdrawn immediately by the U.N. if he didn't.

This probably seems to Syngman Rhee an arbitrary step that was being taken without a full discussion of the issues on their merits.

It is a regrettable dispute, because the Korean government needs the good will of the United States government and because also, if the Communists are not sincere about making the truce, then the main job of fighting falls back on the shoulders of the troops of Syngman Rhee.

Incidentally, if, despite what has happened, the Communists sign the truce, it will be a clear indication that they want it badly, but, if they construe this episode to be a basis for a breakup of all negotiations, it could mean that they didn't really want the truce after all.

Opinion here still inclines to the belief that some sort of truce will be signed soon by the U.N. command and that the Korean government, while never agreeing to the truce terms, will agree nevertheless not to engage in hostilities during the period of the political conference.

By TRUMAN TWILL

Dear Nephew: Am taking my pen in hand a little late this week because the thing sprang a leak and had to be taken to the pen garage for a rebushing job.

There isn't much to write about anyway. Things are in a midsummer drone here at the Corners. I keep thinking about those cartoons of summer - bemused mountaineers, except no one around here is snoring.

The drone here is from working. The boys are cutting fodder and cultivating corn. Some of them are fighting the cutworms, and I wonder how many people know these are the same worms you find in your garden, usually in the neighborhood of the tomato plants that mysteriously fell over dead.

If ever there was any doubt about the folly of monkeying with nature, a thing like this should remove it. No one knows why these pests have broken loose this year, but it had to be caused by some kind of an unbalance in nature; there's no other explanation.

Anyone who carelessly caused such an unbalance artificially would be taking a terrific responsibility. Nature herself can think up enough mischief without assistance from people who have ideas about rearranging her component parts.

I blame meddlers for some other unbalances which are giving us trouble. I blame meddlers for fooling around with people like the Japanese and the Russians and giving them machinery to play with a couple hundred years before they were ready to accept responsibility for it.

I don't see much difference between the people who did this and the early settlers who gave the Indians muskets and booze, then yelped and complained because the Indians guzzled the booze and shot the muskets. What did they expect those Indians to do?

We need a commission in this country to figure out how to let nature take its course. If the Germans and the Russians fell to fighting, we'd work for a draw, lest nature get out of balance and give us trouble. It gave us trouble when we nibbed in, didn't it?

We'd let the Japanese live in isolation if they preferred to live that way. By the way, do you know we forced the Koreans out of isolation too? All they wanted was to be let alone until Yankee meddlers bottled up Seoul away back in the 1870's and forced Korea to cease being the Hermit Kingdom. Old Man Rhee remembers things like that, just as he remembers how Korea has been swapped back and forth ever since by major powers that used his country as a pawn in their international chess game.

But this marks me as a crochet old has-been who is fed to the teeth with people who approach every question as if they thought no one ever had been there before. There are no new problems, only old ones. And one more monster dose of prejudice never solves anything, that's certain. I must admit I am becoming bitterly prejudiced against prejudice.

Your aunt is incommunicado but well. I have her chained to the stove, she says, making all the strawberries I cannot eat into delicious preserves for my toast next winter. If strawberries are ripe, can winter be far behind? Regards to all.

Perpetual Motion

Hunting "Treasure" Seldom Profitable

By David Devine

LONDON

David M. Eccles, the minister of works, will not dig up the Tower of London. He will not even dig up a small portion of it —not even to find a quarter of a million pounds' worth of treasure.

This problem arises in part, at least, out of an offer by the Sunday Times to investigate reports of buried treasure. One of the first reports was from the Speleological Society. It claimed to have located the treasure said to have been buried by the goldsmith Berkestead in the Tower at the time of the restoration of Charles II.

This report shares with all reports of buried treasure the beautiful characteristic of global figures.

This liking for a fine round sum is the first necessity in all buried treasure stories.

It reached its most handsome level with the discovery of "the treasure of Captain Kidd" in the Ryukyu Islands, between Japan and Formosa, in June of last year.

A newspaper reported a Japanese claim to have a hoard of $2,800,000 there. Another paper on the same day reported the finding of a cache of $280,000,000. The ghost of Captain Kidd must have been suitably impressed.

The ghost, in fact, must be getting a little above itself, for the amount of treasure that Captain Kidd disposed of all over the world from the Cocos Islands to the coast of Nova Scotia, from the Ryukyus to the Atlantic, totaled up today, is roughly the equivalent of the national debt; and the ghost must be more than a little annoyed that its original owner was hanged not for piracy, but for the murder of William Moore, chief gunner, for an oaken bucket, value 20 cents.

Kidd's career of piracy, in fact, was a miserable effort. His richest prize was the Quedagh Merchant, a little ship of 500 tons, coasting from Surat to Bengal with a cargo of silks and muslin, sugar, iron, saltpeter, and a little gold.

Buried treasure has an age-old romantic lure. It can transform anything with its touch. It is the original Philosopher's Stone.

How many fine brick-built Tudor main-drain sewers have been transmuted into treasure chambers it is impossible to estimate. There was recently, for example, the mysterious passage of the palace of Henry VIII at Oatlands, Weybridge.

Its discovery produced a superbly authentic story that it was the treasure chamber that housed the jewels of Anne of Cleves, stolen by a servant of the palace.

Unfortunately there is no evidence that Anne of Cleves ever went there, or that her jewels ever were stolen.

Treasure maps are so many and so varied that they must have represented at least an important minor industry in the early 19th century, the time of their great flourishing.

But they must not be allowed to mask the fact that there really is buried treasure in existence. At least two great treasures have been discovered in England in the last few years.

The Saxon burial ship at Sutton Hoo is one of the treasures of the world, but it was hardly "hidden" treasure in the accepted sense of the word. The Mildenhall treasure, on the other hand, was.

If the accepted theory is correct, the masterpieces of Roman silver found at Mildenhall were buried by a wealthy family fleeing before the marauding Norsemen. They were discovered only because of the deep-plowing enthusiasms of a war agricultural committee.

The process of burying continues. Was there not Miss Mary Clode, of Milton Abbas, a few years ago, whose will disclosed, and disposed of, the silver that she had buried in a bed of mint?

While people do things like that, buried treasure will continue to be a reality rather than a romance —but one must be careful to estimate the amount of reality.

A fortnight ago there came from South Africa a report of a $5,600,000 treasure hoard buried on Tristan da Cunha by the British pirate Thomas Currie.

We have become rather proud of our pirates. We konw, in fact, a remarkable amount about them, but I have never heard of Thomas Currie, nor have I heard of Jonathan Lambert, who appears to have been his captain, and I would like to know where they pirated their $5,600,000 before I went all the way to Tristan da Cunha.

I feel if more people asked that sort of question less money would be poured by ardent enthusiasts into the holes the pirates dug than the pirates placed in the holes in the first place.

Knowland Able Leader

By Raymond Moley

No one but Sen. Taft, his doctors, and intimates know how serious his illness may prove to be, but the best opinions I have heard from medical men not connected with the case is that to use the word "serious" is subject to misinterpretation.

Perhaps the senator chose the word, but wise physicians say that some other word would have been better and more descriptive. In short, they would say the illness is not dangerous and can respond to treatment.

Because a floor leader must be literally on his feet hours every day, Taft's full duties in the Senate must be assumed by his chosen substitute, Sen. Knowland.

Certain facts about Knowland are almost too well known to need repetition here. He has grown up in the newspaper business and in politics.

He is the son of Joseph Knowland, proprietor of the Oakland Tribune, who was almost continuously in the California legislature and Congress from 1898 to 1915.

Sen. Knowland was very active in the national Republican party some years before his appointment by Gov. Warren to the Senate in 1944. His second election to a full term last year was signalized by a sweep of both primaries, with an overall majority over his opponent of some 1,600,000 votes. I know of no larger majority ever cast for any office other than a presidency or a vice-presidency in our national history in a contested election.

This majority, plus the rising tide of respect for Knowland which I have found in California from year to year, is an important factor in his capacity to do well as a parliamentary leader.

It means that political security will enable him to brush aside the irrevelant and drive ahead in the immense job of leadership.

It was said of William Pitt, the younger, that during his many years as party leader and prime minister he had no time for small talk.

Bagehot said of him that Pitt's conduct was marked by a "certain aloofness. . . He was ready to discuss important business with all proper persons upon all necessary occasions. But he was not ready to discuss business unnecessarily with anyone."

Charles James Fox was "the exact opposite. He was a good fellow. He rolled into the house, fat, good-humored, and popular."

It was Pitt, not Fox, who steered England through its greatest perils and who is remembered as a transcendently great prime minister.

It takes security in politics to permit a man to attend to business. Taft had that.

He was, perhaps, "caviar to the general," but his contribution lives far above that of his more amiable, rollicking contemporaries.

Knowland has the necessary security, and he has the intensely serious disposition of a floor leader. He is an indefatigable worker, and his loyalty to this party and its leaders is beyond question. He has youth as had Pitt.

It is not irrelevant to add that his wife, Helen, was once described to me by a well-known governor of an Eastern state as the best informed woman in America on politics.

In the trying days before and during the Republican convention, Knowland manifested honesty and loyalty with few parallels in public life.

The Taft and the Eisenhower managers were angling for the big California delegation. Both sides were willing to offer almost anything, including the vice-presidential spot.

Gov. Warren had won the delegation by a fair vote and was entitled to undeviating support. Moreover, as few realized then, Warren was very, very serious in his campaign for the presidential nomination.

Knowland listened to no bandishments from other candidates. He stood and lost with Warren.

His loyalty to Taft and his party will be equally firm now.

Budget Nostalgia

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — What this country needs on the day before payday, with lunch money running low, is a time-machine trip back to a Harvard University eating club in 1905. Run for and by students, Randall Hall served combination dinners like this: No. 1—17 cents: chicken pie, mashed potatoes, mashed turnip, baked apple pudding. No. 2—25 cents: roast prime rib of beef, boiled sweet potato, string beans, cranberry pie. A sample combination breakfast was 11 cents: apples or dates, oatmeal and milk, rolls or toast, corn bread and butter with your choice of tea, coffee, cocoa, milk. Here's a sample 16-cent lunch: liver and bacon, boiled potato, apple sauce and chocolate tapioca pudding.

Marion County History Brevities

In some settlements surrounding Marion County it was customary among the pioneers, upon their arrival, to construct three-sided, sloping-roof shanties which they called "camps." In front of the fourth side, which was open to the weather, a huge fire of logs was kept burning and these primitive structures were occupied until a log cabin could be built.

SALUTE TO "THE PREEM"

With this department a horse named The Preem is the Horse of the Year. He has a sense of duty, self-control, poise and tolerance—the elements of fine character.

Tossed into a race against Native Dancer, Jamie K. and others in the Belmont, one of the toughest stake races on earth, with no chance, except to look cheap and inadequate, he didn't throw his jockey, bite his trainer or kick his owner. No other horse can make that statement. (Yes, Kamehameha finished behind him, but through an accident.)

We nominate The Preem, owned and entered by Louis Prima, noted bandmaster, as the Most Needlessly Humiliated Horse of 1953 and the Skinner Most Likely to Hate Band Music.

Many a human being placed in a similarly humiliating position would have protested violently, blowing his top at the idea of taking a licking before 40,000 track fans and millions of TV addicts.

The Preem, beyond pricking up his ears in a "Who me!" attitude when saddled, conducted himself like a sport, a gentleman and a thoroughbred.

Underground Gas Storage Is Issue

Huge Coal, Gas Interests Feuding in Legislature

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Giant coal and gas interests have locked horns in a late-developing fight in the Ohio Legislature.

But Ohioans may not feel the effects of the outcome until next winter.

The issue is over underground storage of gas imported during the summertime from the southwest for use by an increasing number of Ohioans during the heating season.

Gas companies since 1936 have been pumping billions of cubic feet of natural gas back into abandoned wells for storage in vast sand deposits that act as reservoirs.

The utilities depend on those reservoirs to augment their gas supplies during the winter when officials claim demands could not be met without tapping the storage areas.

A bill introduced in the Senate March 10 sought to give gas companies the right to compel the leasing of land for new and enlarged storage reservoirs.

The Senate passed the bill by Sen. David M. Ferguson (R-Guernsey), a gas and oil man, by a vote of 25-7 on April 7. It has remained in the House Mines Committee ever since.

On June 2, Sen. Oakley C. Collins (R-Lawrence), a coal man, introduced a bill to prevent underground gas storage within 4,000 feet of a coal mine for safety reasons. He said coal interests were behind his measure.

Gas men told the Senate Agriculture and Conservation Committee studying the Collins bill that the proposal "destroys the whole gas supply in Ohio."

Ferguson termed the Collins measure "purely a subterfuge to scuttle my bill."

Glenn Blake of the M. B. Belden Oil and Gas Co., Canton, testified Thursday that the Collins bill could make gas storage impossible. He said his company had large holdings in Stark and Wayne Counties.

Stark County, he said, is full of abandoned coal workings. The East Ohio Gas Co., he added, has large storage facilities in that county. Blake added that Cleveland, Canton, Youngstown and other cities were served from storage areas in Stark County.

East Ohio stored liquified gas in Cleveland until a devastating explosion occurred in big tanks there a few years ago.

Blake said the Collins bill would permit mines to resume in Stark County and serve notice to require utilities to abandon gas reservoirs because those on the edge of the storage area were within 4,000 feet of the mines.

Sen. Ralph L. Humphrey (R-Ashtabula), a committee member, observed there were no gas storage areas in Stark County that did not have coal mines over them. He added that demands for gas in his area exceeded supply.

Crops Hurt By Drought

Rain Badly Needed In Parts of County

Marion County farmers face the possibility of loss of crops this season due to a lack of sufficient rainfall. The north section of the county is hardest hit by the drought. Arthur H. Smith, county agricultural extension agent, reports corn and bean crops in that area are not coming up as they should because of the lack of water.

Scattered showers have been reported in the north section, but only a few fields have benefited from the rains. The south portion of the county is in no immediate danger, Smith said. There has been enough rainfall in that area to temporarily relieve the situation.

The Marion weather station reports only .8 of an inch of rain has fallen in June. This compares to 4.04 inches which fell during May.

The heaviest precipitation measured this month was .52 inch on June 7. There have been six days on which rains has fallen this month, but most of those days showed .1 inch or less. The last measured precipitation was .05 inch on June 17. The last heavy rainfall in the county was on May 23 when 1.19 inches were measured at the weather station.

ST. PAUL'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH was the scene of the wedding of Miss Helen Gertrude Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Moore of 781 E. Church St., and Richard Lee Thomas Wednesday evening. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin C. Thomas of 1059 E. Center St.

The couple repeated the double ring service in a candlelight ceremony at 7:30 o'clock with the Rev. Frederick W. Leech, rector, officiating.

Lighting the sanctuary were tapers held in seven-branch candelabra and vases on the altar held bouquets of white carnations. Candelabra holding lighted tapers were in each of the windows and candles, caught to the pews with white ribbon bows and ivy, lighted the aisle leading to the altar.

As the guests were being seated Miss Grace Cooper, organist, played a program of nuptial music. Serving as acolytes were Peter DeWolfe and Steven Allen.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin. Fashioned with an off-the-shoulder neckline outlined with scallops of the lace, the fitted basque bodice of lace had long sleeves ending in points over the hands. Layers of nylon tulle, inset with tiers of Chantilly lace formed the bouffant skirt which was worn over an old-fashioned hoop and crinoline petticoat and swept into a chapel length train. A cloche of matching lace outlined in scallops and pearls, held her finger-tip veil of English illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of white fleur d'amour, stephanotis and ivy. Her jewelry was a single strand choker of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom and she carried an heirloom handkerchief of Irish linen made by her great-grandmother.

Miss Billie Ann Baldauf of Dayton was the maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Marilyn Rosser of Dayton, Miss Marilyn Fields and Miss Nancy Nussbaum. They wore identical waltz-length gowns of pure silk organza. The fitted bodices were styled with wide bands criss-crossing in the back and forming a cowl neckline in the front. The bouffant skirts of organza over taffeta were worn over crinoline petticoats. Their Colonial bouquets held pink roses and white feverfew and they wore halos of the same flowers. Miss Baldauf's gown was in a pink shade and the bridesmaids' dresses were blue. Completing their costumes were single strands of pearls and white kid gloves.

Joseph A. Rotolo of Cleveland, fraternity brother and the bridegroom's roommate at college, was the best man and ushers were Robert First of Gambier, Joseph H. Thomas, brother of the bridegroom, and Roger Andrews.

The reception was at the Marion Country Club where roses, lilies and daisies formed the floral setting. Vases filled with rosebuds decorated the tables and the four-tiered cake, encircled with white fleur d'amour and greenery, was topped with a china bell. Assisting were Mrs. John Isaly, Mrs. William Swearingen, Mrs. Thomas Taylor and Miss Barbara Schroeter. Music throughout the evening was by Edward Porter, pianist.

When the couple left on a short wedding trip the bride was wearing a black and white costume suit. Upon their return they will make their home in Elmhurst, Ill., until July 20 when they will sail for Copenhagen, Denmark, where the bridegroom has been awarded a Fulbright scholarship for a year's study at the University of Copenhagen.

The bride is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University where she affiliated with Delta Gamma Sorority. The bridegroom was graduated from Kenyon College this month and is a member of Beta Theta Pi Fraternity. He will continue his study of economics at the University of Copenhagen. Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Harding High School with the class of 1949.

Guests were from Chicago, Richmond, Va., North Tarrytown and Ithaca, N. Y., Pittsburgh, Elmhurst, Ill., Cleveland, Toledo, Kent, Chillicothe, Dayton, Circleville, Norwalk, London, Columbus, Tiffin and Gambier.

Battle on For Second In American League

Detroit Tigers Surprise Yanks With 3-2 Verdict

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

The big question around the American League right now is "Who do you like for second?"

It's true that the New York Yankees' tremendous first place lead has been shaved to a mere 10 games, but if you look a little deeper into the standings you find that a real battle is developing for the runner-up slot.

Only three games separate second place Cleveland from fourth place Boston with the Chicago White Sox sandwiched in between. Even Washington and Philadelphia can't be counted out of the race for second.

The Senators are five lengths behind the Indians and A's, although now in the midst of a three game losing streak.

The Indians whipped Washington, last night, marking the first time they have won a game on the same day that New York lost one since May 8. The Yankees bowed to Ted Gray and the lowly Detroit Tigers, 3-2.

The White Sox defeated Philadelphia, 5-2, and te Red Sox, although tamed considerably after their wild scoring sprees of the past two days, beat the St. Louis Browns, 4-1.

In the National League the Braves absorbed their worst beating since moving to Milwaukee. The revitalized New York Giants swamped them, 15-1.

Brooklyn broke a four game losing streak by taking the second half of a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs, 7-1, after the Cubs had come from behind to take the free-hitting opener, 11-8.

The third place St. Louis Cardinals kept rolling with a 10-3 triumph over Pittsburgh, their ninth victory in their last 10 games. Philadelphia whipped Cincinnati, 10-3.

Gray held the Yankees to five hits in registering his first victory of the season against nine defeats. Gene Woodling's home run after a safe bunt by Joe Collins produced the only New York tallies. Jim Delsing blasted two home runs and Gray himself scored the winning run after singling in the seventh.

Big Mike Garcia breezed to his eighth victory, an eight hitter, against the senators who couldn't break into the scoring column until the last two innings.

The White Sox blasted the A's Rookie Marion Fricano for 11 hits, including a two run double by Bob Elliott in the ninth, to hand him his second loss against four victories. Sandy Consuegra, with expert help from Harry Dorish in the ninth, won his third.

Billy Goodman of the Red Sox ran his hitting streak to 15 games with a pair of doubles and a single against the Browns.

The Braves really blew one against the Giants. Three Milwaukee pitchers gave up 16 hits, the fielders contributed two errors and the batters were baffled by Sal (The Barber) Maglie, who allowed only four safeties. Bob Buhl drew the loss, his third.

Heavy hitting by Rip Repulski, Ray Jablonski and Solly Hemus made it easy for Wilmer Mizell, to pick up his seventh victory for St. Louis. Repulski and Jablonski each had four for four, while Hemus drove in three with a triple and a pair of singles.

Randy Jackson homered with the bases loaded to put Chicago ahead to stay in the first game of its doubleheader with the Dodgers but his bases-empty blast was the only run the Cubs could get off Russ Meyer in the nightcap. Ralph Kiner and Hank Sauer also homered for the Cubs in the opener.

Robin Roberts won is 11th game in the Phils' victory over Cincinnati. Tommy Glaviano, who took over second base from Connie Ryan, homered twice for Philadelphia.

BROWN CUT DOWN AT HOME PLATE. Chicago Cubs Shortstop Tommy Brown is tagged out at home plate by Brooklyn Dodgers Catcher Roy Campanella in the first inning at Wrigley Field in Chicago Friday. Brown tried to make it home from second base on Ralph Kiner's single to Second Baseman Junior Gilliam, who bobbled the ball and threw a strike to the plate to nip Brown. Umpire Jocko Conlan calls the out as Cubs Pitcher Tom Simpson (30) watches the action in first game of a double-bill. Cubs won,11-8.

Haas, Burke Retain Lead In Inverness

By FRITZ HOWELL

TOLEDO, O. (AP)—Unless things change, they'll be calling this the Inverness invalid tournament, instead of the Inverness Invitational.

At the halfway mark in the 72-hole $18,000 test over the not-too-tough terrain of the 6,545-yard par-71 layout, most of the pyrotechnics have been set off by guys suffering with everything but putting jitters.

Out front, 10 under par with scores of 132 as they started today's third round, were 37-year-old Freddie Haas of New Orleans, and 30-year-old Jack Burke of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y.

Haas, who tacked together rounds of 67 and 65, didn't even play a practice round because of an aching back.

Burke, after an opening 68, went to bed with influenza and a temperature of 103—but got up to sweep around the layout in 64 strokes, five better than the course record set in the 1931 open by George Von Elm.

Jack's dad, incidentally, played in the 1920 National Open here, finishing in a second place tie with England's Harry Vardon at 296, a stroke back of the winner, Britisher Edward Ray.

Haas and Burke were not the only ailing athletes to hit the spotlight as they constructed a five-stroke lead over long-hitting Chick Harbert of Detroit, Skee Riegel, former National Amateur champ from Tulsa, Okla., and Skip Alexander, bespectacled pro from St. Petersburg.

Alexander, his hands and ankles still not back to par after a near-fatal plane accident in 1950, appeared out of it after an opening 73, but he zoomed into contention with a record tying 64. The final flourish was an eagle deuce on the 18th hole, where he pitched 65 yards into the cup.

Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., and 1952 Open champ Julius Boros also had eagles, but they came on the par-five 492-yard ninth hole where practically everyone picks up strokes.

Another 18 hole round is on tap Sunday, rounding out the 72-hole route, before the $18,000 is divided among the 30 professionals. The victor gets $3,400 and the last placer $100.

Toledo Whipped, Drops to Second

Indianapolis rallied in the ninth inning for a 2-1 victory over Louisville Friday night and took over sole possession of first place in the American Association.

The Toledo Sox, who had shared the lead with the Indians, dropped to third as Kansas City moved back into runnerup spot with a 5-4 win over the Sox, also engineered with a ninth-inning comeback.

The Association's two other scheduled games, Charleston at Minneapolis and Columbus at St. Paul, were postponed because of rain.

Tribe Trails by 10

Garcia Wins Eighth To Cut Game From Deficit

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the first time in six weeks the Cleveland Indians gained a full game on the New York Yankees. But the Tribe's 4-2 victory over Washington Friday night while the Yanks lost to Detroit still leaves Cleveland 10 games out.

Mike Garcia went all the way to his eighth victory against four losses and had a shutout until the eighth inning. He also rapped two of the Tribe's hits and drove in a run.

Southpaw Tommy Byrne's characteristic wildness kept him in trouble. He walked eight — two more than the number of hits he gave.

Dale Mitchell opened the game with a triple and scored Cleveland's first run on Larry Doby's fly. A single by Garcia after two walks brought another Cleveland run in the second. In the fifth Mike singled again and Mitch doubles him home. Doby's single scored Mitchell.

Only Jackie Jensen, who led off the second with a ground rule double, was able to get as far as third base for Washington in the first seven innings. But in the eighth Wayne Terwilliger and Ed Fitzgerald singled and Pete Runnels singled Terwilliger home. The other Washington run was Clyde Vollmer's homer at the start of the ninth inning.

Early Wynn was today's probable against Bob Porterfield.

Bud Thorpe received credit for the victory alldwing his opponents four hits, while Dwight Wilcox gave up five tingles to the new first round champs.

Jess Harris limited Universal Cooler to five hits as Osco rolled to an easy win. Osco put the game away for keeps in the second inning when it scored six times on a total of four hits. Morton of Osco hit a home run to start the uprising. Osco continued to rap the ball hard for a total of 10 hits to move into a tie for second place with the Erie A A.

Olson Gains Easy Win Over Young

Predicts He'll Whip Randy Turpin in Fight For World Crown

NEW YORK (AP) — Calm, poker-faced Carl (Bobo) Olson believes he will beat England's Randy Turpin "on style" and win the world middleweight championship in August.

Shortly after he handed durable Paddy Young an artistic lacing in Madison Square Garden last night to capture the American 160-pound crown by a unanimous and very big margin balding Bobo said "I've got the style to beat Turpin."

"He's awkward, strong and pretty good," said Bobo of the one-time world champion, "but I believe my bobbing and weaving style will do it.

"I saw pictures of his second fight with (Ray) Robinson," said Bobo as he dunked his hands in a bucket of ice water, "and I know my style will give him more trouble than anyone else has."

Including Robinson?

"Yes, including Robinson," said Bobo.

Olson and Manager Sid Flaherty were eager for the clash with Turpin but Flaherty said he wasn't happy with promoter Jim Norris' choice for the site. Norris wants to put it on in New York's Yankee Stadium on Aug. 27. Flaherty said he prefers San Francisco, his and Bobo's home town.

"We can do $500,000 at the gate in Kezar Stadium and televise the fight, too," said Flaherty. "That's a lot better than they'll do in New York."

Last night's massacre, which drew 7,418 fans, grossed $36,250 at a $12 top. The 15-rounder was broadcast and telecast nationally, with an extra $50,000 for radio and TV; each gladiator collected a total of about $23,000.

The 24-year old Young, a power puncher with his left, was in the fight in the first three rounds, briefly again in the seventh, and eighth and in the fifteenth. Otherwise it was no contest.

At the finish Judge Arthur Susskind scored it 12-3, Judge Arthur Aidala had it 11-3-1 and Referee Petey Scalzo, 9-4-2. The AP scorecard scored it 11-3-1.

There were no knockdowns and nothing close to one although both got in their Sunday punches. Especially in the second. In that stanza Young first shook up Olson with a left hook to the jaw but slope shouldered Bobo came back with a left hook of his own that seemed to rock Paddy.

Young, who weighed 159½ to Olson's 159¾, thought he could wear down the 3 to 1 choice with body bombs. Bobo took them without flinching and returned all with interest.

Navy Rowers Favored In 10-Crew Regatta

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Rival rowing coaches hoped for some help from the barometer today in their attempt to upset Navy's all-conquering Olympic champions in the 51st intercollegiate regatta on Onondaga Lake.

The strong-backed Midshipmen are seeking to climax a phenomenal two-year unbeaten record by outracing 10 other eight-oar shells for their 20th straight victory.

"The weather is the big factor," said glum Al Ulbrickson, whose University of Washington Huskies are conceded the best chance of cracking the Navy skein.

Completing the varsity list are California, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, MIT, Princeton, Stanford, and Syracuse, Cornell and Columbia.

Play Continues Tonight

2 Games Mark Opening Of Pony League Action

By JERRY EMERY

Mayor Harold Robinson was unable to be present to throw out the first pitch Friday night but the Pony League, nevertheless, got under way with a bang. In the two initial contests Alloy Cast Steel pounded out nine hits to trounce G and G Builders, 8-3, and Clark Metal Products came from behind with a rally in the sixth to defeat VFW, 7-4.

In short pre-game ceremonies the four teams were presented to the fans and all stood for the National Anthem. The familiar ring of "Play Ball!," was given and the 1953 Pony League season was under way.

Alloy first scored in the second when Sanders tripled and Ambrose, the winning pitcher, singled. Ambrose had a no-hitter going up to the seventh inning, which is the final inning in Pony League ball, when Smiley of G and G was hit by a pitch, Claypool singled and Joe Welty slammed a home run bringing in G and G's 3 runs.

A triple play was made last night which was the first one ever seen in Little League or Pony League baseball. What was even more unique was the fact that it was made on the first three men to step up to the plate in Pony League baseball. The first two men, Armbuster and Williams, reached base on a single and a walk. Then Barrett, the centerfielder, fouled out to the catcher and Armbuster and Williams were caught off base, the ball was whipped down to the first baseman and then to the second baseman. The play went from Smith to Welty to Garver.

Dave Gallimore had a perfect game going for the VFW and was leading, 4-0, up to the sixth inning when he blew up. He pitched two straight strikeouts and then the pitcher, Corbin, went to first on interference, Kruz walked and Penry doubled to start the rally. Hart singled, Middleton reached first on interference and Tex Burns doubled bringing in three more runs. Church Balthaser singled in Burns ending the rally with a two-run lead.

VFW made a gallant try to recover the game but the inspired pitching of Larry Corbin stopped them in their tracks. Clark Metal got its seventh run when Kurz singled and advanced all the way around on an error by the first baseman and a wild pitch.

There will be two more Pony League games tonight at Lincoln Park starting at 6:15.

Roberts Wins No. 11, Whips Cincinnati, 10-3

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs lost to Philadelphia and Robin Roberts 10-3 Friday night to put them 17 games behind league-leading Milwaukee.

Lefthander Harry Perkowski (1-5) will be Manager Rogers Hornsby's probable choice today to oppose Karl Drews of the Phils, a right-hander with a 3-5 slate.

The loss Friday night handed Roberts his 11th triumph against four losses. The Redlegs kicked in with three errors, two coming consecutively and enabling Mel Clark to make the complete circuit of the bases on a single in the seventh inning.

Ken Raffensberger served 'em up and ducked for five innings before he was relieved by Bob Kelly, the first of three Cincinnati relief chuckers.

Tommy Glaviano touched off the scoring in the third with the first of his two consecutive home runs for the Phils. The Redlegs, with the help of an error by Granny Hamner, made it one-all in the home half.

Earl Torgeson and Willie Jones hauled off on Raffy for two more homers in the fourth. Both clubs scored a run in the fifth, the Phils on Glaviano's second homer and and the Rhinelanders on a pinch-hit double by Bob Marquis, a single by Grady Hatton and Gus Bell's fly.

After getting to Kelly for an unearned run in the sixth on an infield single, walk and a two-base wild throw by shortstop Roy McMillan, Philadelphia locked up the game by tearing into Frank Smith for four runs in the seventh on three singles, two bases on balls and throwing errors by Bell and Smith.

Ted Kluszewski's 19th homer, a tremendous wallop into the 23rd row of the bleachers, accounted for the other Cincinnati run in the sixth.

Lima Golfer Wins Ohio Seniors Title

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Walter Cope of Lima dethroned Allen Rankin of Columbus as Ohio Seniors golf champion Friday at the Scioto Country Club with a 5-over-par 149 for the 72-hole grind.

Rankin, who nabbed the crown seven of eight times out, could do no better than fourth. He slipped to a 78 Friday for a two-day total of 153.

In second place, one stroke behind Cope, was Dick Beast of New Philadelpia. Beast and Cope shared medalist honors the first day with par 72s.

John Valuska of Steubenville had 75-77—152, good enough for third place. Hobe F. Heston of Dayton was fifth with 154 and J. B. Bixley of Akron came in sixth with 75-84—159.

Bowery Boys Comedy Coming to Ohio Theater

Currently playing through Tuesday at the Ohio Theater is a double feature, "The Beast From 20,000 Fathoms," fascinating tale of a prehistoric monster that comes back to life to attack a modern-day city, and "Cow Country," the story of the western plains.

Starring Paul Christian, Paula Raymond and Cecil Kellaway, "The Beast from 20,000 Fathoms" relates the story of a dinosaur which had been buried in the ice of a North Pole iceberg for 100 million years until freed by an experimental atomic blast. Traveling down the Atlantic coast it leaves a path of death and destruction and finally strikes inland at an American metropolis.

A comedy - mystery with song, the story in "Remains To Be Seen" revolves about the death of a wealthy man who, after having been pronounced to have died a natural death by his physician, is found with a carving knife embedded in his body. Among those questioned by the police are June Allyson, his niece and heir, a girl who sings with a band; Van Johnson, a hep-cat drummer who managed the apartment house in which the murder took place; Angela Lansbury, the alternate heir; an ex-convict elevator boy; an artist with a grievance against the dead man, and the cook whose knife was found in the body. It is the blundering hep-cat drummer who eventually wins both a new career and romance.

"The Girl Who Had Everything" is the story of an aristocratic Southern girl who falls under the spell of a fascinating but ruthless gangster. Heedless of the warning of her father, she runs away with him and it is not until the father risks his life that the girl's eyes are opened to the true nature of the man she had hoped to reform.

His fiancee, ired by a three-year engagement, has become engaged to a millionaire socialite in Bing's absence. The comedy arises when he attempts to secure a mother for his family.

Says New Pupils Should Receive Shots, Vaccination

All boys and girls in Marion who will enter the first grade or the second grade in Marion city schools next year must be immunized against diptheria and vaccinated against small pox.

Mrs. Lois Ansley, school nurse, said this must be done before school begins in the fall. All local physicians have official forms which they will fill out to verify the child has received a vaccination and shots for the two diseases, she said.

Parents who are financially unable to meet these requirements for their children may telephone Mrs. Ansley for assistance. She may be reached at telephone number 2-0540 Monday through Friday.

Foreign Aid Bill Gets By House Intact

Vote of Confidence For Ike, Declares Ohio's Rep. Vorys

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio) said today the House, by approving intact a $4,998,732,500 foreign aid program, has given President Eisenhower a 2-1 "vote of confidence to go out and make a record around the world."

Vorys led the administration fight yesterday to prevent slashes in the foreign aid program which finally was approved by a 280-108 roll call, after a sharp seven-hour debate. More Democrats than Republicans voted for it.

Strong Democratic support also helped GOP leaders beat down a dozen attempts to slice the total by as much as half a billion dollars. Speaker Joseph W. Martin (R-Mass) and Rep. Rayburn of Texas, the Democratic leader, both urged support for the President.

The measure now goes to the Senate. There it may encounter less trouble than was created in the House yesterday by a coalition of Midwestern Republicans and some Southern Democrats. The bill would only authorize funds. Actual appropriations must be voted in perhaps a month—presaging another fight.

On final passage in the House, 119 Republicans, 160 Democrats and one Independent voted for the measure. It was opposed by 81 Republicans and 27 Democrats.

Vorys said only 78 Republicans voted for the foreign aid program last year with 85 opposed, and the gain of 41 supporting votes "makes this a party matter for the long pull" to approve the appropriations.

But Rep. George S. Long (D-La) and other Democrats said they saved the President on what Vorys labelled in advance as a vote of confidence on foreign policy.

Rep. Lyle (D-Tex) said in a separate interview he believed the majority of House members "were willing to approve a high ceiling but want to see what happens in the next few weeks in unsettled world conditions before putting up the money."

Both Vorys and Rep. Halleck of Indiana, the Republican floor leader, said they expected the appropriations will be cut.

The House approved an administration-opposed amendment, inserted by the foreign affairs committee, to withold more than one billion dollars of European military aid until the European Defense Community and its international army are formed. GOP leaders said the Senate may take out this provision.

The final vote upheld committee cuts of $476,000,000 below President Eisenhower's "minimum" budget. The total is $2,600,000,000 less than recommended by former President Truman.

The House also:

Approved $2,079,689,870 in military aid to Europe, rejecting proposals to eliminate or cut military aid to Yugoslavia, Spain and Portugal.

Voted $305,212,637 in military aid to the Near East and 15 million for Latin America, without challenge.

Approved $1,081,620,493 in military aid to the Far East.

Upheld a committee amendment expressing hope that a Pacific pact, including the U. S., will be formed.

Kiwanis Club Hears Address On Banking

Secretary of State Association Tells History of Business

A talk on banks and a general history was given by O. E. Anderson of Columbus, secretary of the Ohio Bankers Association, when he spoke at the Kiwanis Club weekly luncheon meeting Thursday at Hotel Harding.

Kiwanians learned from Anderson that the first bank in Ohio was formed in 1803. At that time, it was only through a special act of legislature that a bank could be established. To sidestep this ruling, private companies formed which actually acted as banks, but with disguised names. One of the first of these was known as the Miami Export Co. and was formed in Cincinnati, Anderson related.

A bank, the speaker said, is a service institution organized to make money, and therefore it is a competitive business. In order to be successful, he added, a bank must offer safety and security, provide a reasonable interest, valuable services and must keep money active by investing.

Anderson made the statement that "a bank can be no more successful than the community in which it operates."

A visiting Kiwanian at the meeting was the Rev. L. W. Johnston of Columbus, a former resident of Marion and former pastor of Central Christian Church. He was accompanied by his son, Terry.

Among the guests were six young men to whom Kiwanians are acting as "Big Brothers." They included Jack Mattox and Jerry Mattox, guests of Elmer Weimer; Gary Silvers, guest of Richard Brandt; George and Arthur Granlee, guests of W. H. Goodwin; Gene Bowman, guest of W. J. Grumblatt.

Other guest were Cary Peter of Louisville, Ky., Joseph Friedlander of Cincinnati, John Ewald, John Head and Francis Huber, all of Marion.

Plans were discussed for the Rotary-Kiwanis golf match and dinner to be held June 24 at the Marion Country Club. The joint meeting is scheduled to begin at 6 p.m.

Lester L. Dickey, president, was announced as the delegate to the Kiwanis International Convention to be held June 21-25 in New York City.

Red Troops Mass Along Korea Front

Two Fresh Divisions Take Battle Stations; U.S. Air Losses High

SEOUL (AP) — The Reds today massed some 16,000 fresh troops along the East Central front—scene the past week of the greatest Communist offensive in two years.

The U. S. Eighth Army reported the Red buildup as the Air Force announced Allied air power suffered its heaviest losses of the war the past week, helping to stall the great Communist drive.

Two new Red divisions were reported moving into the Pukhan River lines, the sector where perhaps 40,000 Communists pushed South Korean troops back as much as two miles Sunday and Monday.

Fighting was light, however.

Nineteen planes—including Sabre jets—went down behind Communist lines, the Air Force announced. Fourteen were lost to anti-aircraft guns and five to unexplained causes.

None was lost in dogfights, in which Sabre jets shot down 19 Red MIG jets.

Day and night, U. N. warplanes in record waves dumped bombs and jellied gasoline on Communist troops to play a major role in stemming the greatest Red drive since 1951—a drive which dented South Korean lines up to two miles.

The worst previous Allied plane loss was 16 in the week of Feb. 5-11, 1952.

Nine Sabre jets were shot down by Red guns, and three more of the swept-wing jets failed to return from enemy territory for unexplained causes, probably engine failure. Previous high Sabre toll for a week was four for the period ending April 19.

One Mustang and three Thunderjet fighter-bombers and one twin-jet Australian Meteor fighter-bomber also were lost to ground fire. The loss of a Star night fighter and one Thunderjet also was unexplained.

The week also saw destructive Communist air raids on the Seoul area, resulting in Friday's announcement that U. S. Marine Skyraider attack bombers were assigned to patrol the capital.

Bloch Bitter At President, Brownell

WASHINGTON (AP) — "And so," said the voice on the hotel room radio, "Julius and Ethel Rosenberg are dead."

"And so," rasped the furious man in the tan suit, slouched in a chair across te room, "America is shamed forever!"

Lawyer Emanuel Bloch had just heard the news — the young couple he defended in tree years of legal maneuvering, with seven appeals to the Supreme Court, had died in the electric chair as spies who conspired to slip atomic secrets to the Russians.

Bloch took it bitterly, defiantly.

He vowed that "we" — and he didn't explain who "we" were — would drive from power those who failed to halt the electrocution. He mentioned two names: President Eisenhower and Atty. Gen Brownell.

South Koreans Risk Losing Pact With U.S.

Rhee's Stock Sinks Swiftly Among U.S. Leaders in Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Syngman Rhee's stock has sunk swiftly among U. S. legislators and some express doubt that Congress would approve any mutual security pact with his South Korean government despite the outcome of truce negotiations.

Sen. Magnuson (D-Wash), just back from a Far Eastern inspection trip, joined today in mounting congressional criticism of Rhee for freeing 25,000 prisoners from United Nations camps. Much comment was critical, but Rhee had defenders also in Congress.

Previously, Sen. George (D-Ga), a Senate Foreign Relations Committee member, talked of the possibility of ousting Rhee, saying he had "practically scuttled" truce hopes unless the Communists want a cease-fire badly.

At Panmunjom, the Communists asked for an indefinite recess in the armistice negotiations, dealing a blow to hopes for a prompt truce. They also demanded recovery of the freed North Korean prisoners and asked whether the U. N. was "able to control the South Korean government and army."

The Korean ambassador was not invited yesterday when Secretary of State Dulles called a meeting of representatives of United Nations countries having forces in Korea.

The secretary and the diplomats conferred about 35 minutes. It was understood they discussed the truce situation and South Korea's action, but there was no comment afterward.

It was learned, however, the ambassadors were told that Walter S. Robertson, assistant secretary of state for the Far East, will fly to Korea soon at Rhee's invitation to confer with him.

Dulles reportedly gave the ambassadors assurance the U. S. government and U. N. Command were going ahead with plans for a truce as soon as possible despite Rhee's action.

Magnuson, who conferred with Rhee in Korea, said he thinks the South Korean President's action "gives the Communists a perfect out if they want to take it."

Look Over Those Old Stocks, Bonds

NEW YORK (U.P.)—If you have some old stocks or bonds that grandpa said weren't worth a nickel, take another look at them. You may have a fortune in your attic.

R. M. Smythe and Company estimates there is more than a billion dollars' worth of unclaimed paper lying in attics and strong boxes.

The firm's job is to track down "cats and dogs" — the broker's name for washed-up and washed-out securities. The president of the firm, Godfrey Bligh, says there's many a case on record of supposedly worthless stocks turning out to be valuable.

Burned Stocks Redeemed

For example, there's the American-owned mining company that folded in Mexico in 1930. Eighteen years later, the Smythe company discovered the Mexican government had awarded the company a large sum of money.

However, all the records for the company had been destroyed and nobody knew who the stockholders were. One holder was finally located and paid $1,600. But the others are still unknown.

Bligh tells another story about a woman who had inherited a large bloc of mining stock. Her broker said it was worthless and she promptly burned it. However, the Smythe company traced the stock through old records and finally paid the woman $3,500 for the charred remains of her holdings.

Wallpaper Fortune

Some aren't that lucky, however. One lawyer had Smythe experts look over the contents of his strong box after 12 years and they discovered he had some irrigation bonds that had been worth $5,000 just five months before but since had become worthless.

However, even Smythe sometimes makes mistakes.

A doctor wanted to paper his den with old stocks and bonds. The company sold him a big batch of fancy paper for $40. In the collection were some shares in a coal mine.

Several years later, oil was struck on the site of the old mine. The company decided to cancel out the old stock before issuing new shares.

A company representative visited the doctor's house and solemnly stamped canceled all over the walls. For this the doctor got a tidy sum—$40,000.

Rosenbergs Die in Chair

beyond the door. The guard pulled it open.

The rabbi entered, holding the prayer book almost on a level with his eyes. He read both the 15th and 31st Psalms, "Who shall sojourn in Thy tabernacle. . ."

Ethel Rosenberg, 37, walked behind him.

She wore a shapeless green dress with a small white pattern. It had no belt. The sleeves were short and the neckline was high and round. She also wore slipper-type shoes.

Unlike her husband, she looked around the room. Her eyes flickered from face to face, across the row of witnesses and down the line of guards.

She had stopped in front of the electric chair, and she started to turn toward it. Suddenly, she stopped.

Two women had followed her into the chamber. One was Mrs. Helen Evans, prison matron, and the other Mrs. Lucy Many, former matron and now a telephone operator.

Ethel Rosenberg whirled back from the chair and extended her arm toward Mrs. Evans. Her hand was outstretched.

Mrs. Evans took it between both of hers. Mrs. Rosenberg pulled the short, white-haired matron toward her, and the two women kissed.

Each murmured, but the words were unintelligble to the witnesses. Later, Mrs. Evans said she only recalled saying "Goodbye."

Again, the black helmet, straps and leg contacts were set in place. Just before the gear was placed on her head and face, Mrs. Rosenberg closed her eyes.

She winced, slightly, as the electrode was fixed on her head. Her hair was black and short-cropped.

The chamber was hot. There was no sound except the half-whispered words of the rabbi. He kept his eyes on the prayer book, and his head was partly bowed.

Then, the switch was thrown and the metallic rattle sounded again.

Mrs. Rosenberg had stretched her arms along the arms of the chair, with the palms of her hands turned upward. Now, her hands clenched.

Then, as before, the straps were taken from her chest and the doctors examined her. This time, the decision was not immediate. They moved the stethoscopes several times, and there was a brief consultation in whispers.

They stepped away, murmured to Warden Denno, and the warden signaled the guards to replace the straps. Twice more, the switch was thrown and a buzzing hum, more vibration than sound, filled the chamber.

Then it was finished. With the second examination, Dr. Kipp looked up and said, "I pronounce this woman dead."

The second execution had begun at 7:11½ and ended at 7:16.

So closed the story of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg which began more than three years ago with the arrest of Dr. Klaus Fuchs, German-born atomic scientist, who was working in an atomic laboratory in Great Britain.

That was in February, 1950.

On June 16 of that year, David Greenglass was arrested in New York. He was the younger brother of Ethel Rosenberg. The trail followed by detectives on both sides of the Atlantic led from Fuchs, through several other men, to Greenglass and from him to Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

Julius was arrested July 17, his wife August 11, 1950.

Each denied "before God and man" the story that Greenglass told—that they had all been units of an espionage network, designed to ferret out the secrets of atomic energy, and relay the information to the Russians.

Greenglass testified that his sister, Rosenberg's wife, told him, "Julius finally got to the point where he was doing what he always wanted to do—give information to the Soviet Union."

The Rosenbergs called it "a monstrous frameup."

They were convicted in March, 1951, and sentenced to death on April 5, 1951. In sentencing them, Federal Judge Irving Kaufman called their action "a crime worse than murder."

He said, "I believe your conduct in putting into the hands of the Russians the A-bomb years before our best scientists predicted Russia would perfect the bomb already has caused the Communist aggression in Korea with the resulting casualties exceeding 90,000 Americans."

That was the casualty figure at the time.

Then began an immense legal battle to set aside Kaufman's sentence. It went through the courts, up to the U. S. Supreme Court, and to the White House, finally, in a plea for clemency directed to President Eisenhower.

Refusing, Eisenhower said: "By their act, these two individuals have in fact betrayed the cause of freedom for which free men are dying at this very hour."

Still the fight went on. Almost at the 11th hour, lawyers working for the Rosenbergs obtained from Supreme Court Justice William Douglas a stay of execution.

The Supreme Court reconvened in extraordinary session last Thursday, resumed deliberations yesterday, and then overturned Douglas' action. The Justice Department ordered that the executions take place immediately.

PEACE TEAM HEAD. Major General Blacksherr Bryan (above) has been named by Gen. Mark Clark to be senior member of a five-man United Nation commission which will iron out Korean was peace terms after the cease-fire agreement. He has commanded the U. Ike Presses For Action On Tax Program

Calls in Rep. Reed For Showdown On Excess Profits Issue

WASHIGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower arranged a face-to-face showdown today with Rep. Reed (R-NY), chief congressional foe of the President's plea to extend the excess profits tax.

Under present law, the tax expires in 10 days.

Reed is chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, the group that normally must start all tax bills through Congress.

But so far he has not agreed even to call his committee together for a vote on the President's proposal, a stern test of Eisenhower's leadership in Congress. Republican congressional leaders have indicated confidence the committee, if called, would vote to bring the bill to the floor, and that Congress then would enact it.

The President invited Reed to the White House today in an effort to break the roadblock.

Informed sources said Eisenhower would make a direct, personal appeal to the committee chairman to convene his committee for a vote on the issue.

There was no indication whether Reed would yield. Reed, oldest Republican in continuous service in the House, has never said he would refuse to bring the tax extension to a vote. Nor has he said when or whether he would do so.

GOP leaders apparently have made little headway in their efforts to persuade the determined New Yorker.

Eisenhower urged a six-months extension of the unpopular tax in a special message to Congress more than a month ago. The ways and means committee concluded hearings one week ago today.

Reed has insisted the tax prevents business growth, and hence revenue which would be raised by letting it die on schedule.

Two Bound Over In Murder Of Kenton Man

KENTON, O. (AP)—The Hardin County prosecutor said Friday night the grand jury will be reconvened soon to consider first-degree murder charges against James Tatum, 31, and Lawrence Sawyer, 25, both of Kenton.

Tatum and Sawyer pleaded innocent Friday when arraigned before Mayor Lester Whilhoit in the fatal shooting June 9 of Richard Burchiel, 24, of Kenton. The pair was bound to the grand jury.

Buchiel was shot twice near a Kenton cafe. Rosemary Austin, 18-year-old Kenton girl held as a material witness, said the men had argued over her affections.

The 650 delegates to the triennial meeting of the church's governing body elected him Friday.

MIDDLETOWN, O. (AP)—Middletown had a new city manager today—Howard H. Kramer. Kramer, whose appointment is effective July 16, resigned as city manager of Traverse City, Mich., Thursday to accept the job. He succeeds H. W. Starick, who is leaving Middletown to become city manager of Dayton.

ROK's Want All Anti-Red POW's Freed

Acting Premier Demands Gen. Clark Release 9,000 More

SEOUL (AP) — South Korea's acting Prime Minister has demanded that Gen. Mark Clark immediately release some 9,000 anti-Communist Korean prisoners still in Allied stockades because "we must liberate them all."

And the U. N. commander today released a scathing letter accusing South Korea's fiery President Syngman Rhee of breaking a "personal commitment" not to take unilateral action with ROK forces in the U. N. Command.

Clark called the release of almost 26,000 anti-Red prisoners on Rhee's orders this week "precipitous and shocking."

Rhee and his cabinet met this morning to study a stinging rebuke from President Eisenhower and government sources said the Cabinet might discuss Rhee's answer. Eisenhower accused Rhee of violating U. N. Command authority in ordering the prisoners freed.

Forty-five more anti-Communist Koreans fled from three U. N. prison camps Friday night and early Saturday. The U. N. Prisoner Command said nine were recaptured.

One South Korean was killed and one U. S. soldier was wounded at a camp near Pusan.

South Korea's Acting Prime Minister Yung Tai Pyun, in a letter dated Thursday, demanded that Clark turn over all anti-Red prisoners still in Allied hands.

"We must liberate them all-preferably . . . in a manner least likely to cause trouble," he said.

And Pyun warned:

"I should like to call your attention to the mutual need of refraining from saying or doing anything that might likely provoke passions of the (Korean) masses, which once let loose may easily go out of control. If there is any talk to be done, it had better be managed quietly, we believe."

Pyun's letter, written after the mass escape of about 25,000 prisoners early Thursday, said: "We regret very much that several scores of prisoners were killed and injured by United Nations guards."

About 26,000 anti-Red prisoners fled from seven U. N. camps Thursday night and Friday night. South Korean guards, acting on orders of President Rhee, turned their backs as the prisoners escaped.

Clark told Rhee in his letter, released in Tokyo, that he could "not at this time estimate the ultimate consequences" of Rhee's action in releasing the prisoners.

The U. N. commander said he was "profoundly shocked by his unilateral abrogation of your personal commitment, which was so freely and voluntarily given . . . that you would not take unilateral action with reference to ROK forces under my control until after full and frank discussion with me."

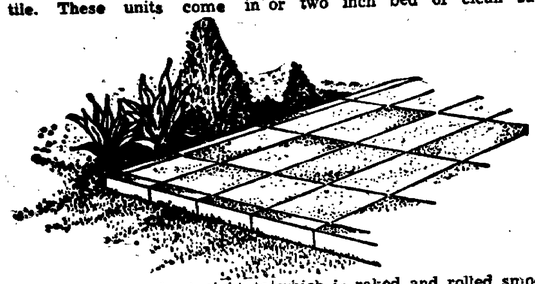
Making Patio Easy With New Type Brick

Quite recently new cement units have appeared on the market which are known as patio bricks, or tile. These units come in various colors, are about eight to ten inches square and two inches thick, and they offer a splendid medium for surfacing a patio or terrace.



As shown in the illustration, these bricks can be laid with great ease by first leveling off the ground and spreading a one or two inch bed of clean sand which is raked and rolled smooth. The edge, which is also a retaining wall, is secured by digging a main trench all around the surface to be paved and setting the bricks on edge as shown. When the dirt is back filled and tamped around this miniature curb, it presents a strong and permanent border.

It is not necessary to use cement or mortar in surfacing the ground with these modern units. As a matter of fact it is better to leave the joints uncemented because it permits a rapid drainage of the paved surface after heavy rains or storms. The best procedure is to lay the bricks with slightly less than one-quarter-inch joint between them and then dump sand on the surface, sweep it around until it falls in and fills the joints solid. These units have a nonslip surface, which makes them particularly attractive for this type of work.

Completion of New Disposal Plant Set August 15

Delay in the delivery of a filter for the plant has resulted in a setback until Aug. 15 of the completion date of the sewage disposal plant. According to Floyd G. Browne, of Floyd G. Browne and Associates, designers of the plant, the delay was caused by unexpected priorities placed on other materials handled by the filter supplier. The new filter is expected by July 15.

The plant is now in operation but cannot be considered finished until the filter is installed and a section of wall, which was removed for installation of the device, is replaced.

Besides the filter, several valves are needed to complete the project. These are expected at the same time as the filter.

The plant has been under construction since last spring. It was put into operation in March. According to Browne, the plant can be expected to give almost 75 years' service with proper maintenance.

The sewage disposal plant was built by the Mosser Construction Co. of Fremont at a cost of $745,600. It is located west of the city and north of Route 95.

Mansfield Man Found Guilty of Assault

Special to The Star

MANSFIELD — Clyde Gary Jr., 24, of Mansfield was found guilty Friday of the March 10 rape of a 36-year-old Mansfield mother and a 15-year-old baby sitter. A common pleas court jury deliberated 30 minutes before returning the verdict.

Gary will be sent to Lima State Hospital for 30 days observation before he is sentenced. He was captured by deputy sheriffs March 10 as he ran from the woman's house a short distance west of Mansfield. The girl, baby-sitting in a neighboring house, was attacked earlier and had run for help. Deputies arrived as Gary fled after the attack on the mother, who was home with a small child.

Of the Rosenbergs the committee said:

"The very memory of them will one day cause America to look back with shame on the era of hysteria under which they were tortured and put to death.

"Our nation's security is not greater for it . . . our nation's conscience is not more serene . . . our nation's light does not shine brighter."

The committee's sponsors include some persons prominent in groups cited as subversive by the attorney general, but the committee has said it accepted members as individuals and assumed many were not connected with such organizations.

The Rosenberg boys, innocent victims of forces they will not understand for years, were to have been told of their parents' fate by Bernard Bach, at whose farm they have been staying "at an opportune time."

But the older boy, Michael, heard the news bulletin.

"That's it, that's it," he cried. "Good bye. Goodbye."

1,200 Attend Hagen Circus

An audience of approximately 1,200 witnessed the matinee and evening performances of the Hagen Bros. three ring circus yesterday. The circus was sponsored here for one day only, by the G.I. American Legion Post No. 584.

The first circus to play here this season, the show was presented at Drake's showgrounds on Fairground St.

One thousand free tickets were given by the Post to children who would otherwise be unable to attend. Tickets were taken to the Children's Home and many were handed out on the street by post members.

The purpose was to raise money for the civic flag fund. This fund is for the purchasing of new flags for the schools, YMCA, Selective Service headquarters and other institutions. The post plans to equip the new Harding High School with flags at the dedication of the building.

Patrol Reports Two Accidents

No one was injured in two highway accidents reported Friday to the state highway patrol.

Inez Kazee of Ashland, Ky., and Raymond Ward, 22, of 398 Milburn Ave., were drivers of two automobiles which collided at 8:25 p.m. about six miles south of Marion on Route 23. Minor damage resulted to both vehicles, patrolmen reported.

Extensive damage resulted to an automobile driven by Henry B. McWhirk, 60, of near Mt. Gilead, when it was struck by a truck driven by Arnold E. Baer, 26, of near Marengo, after it had slowed down to enable a vehicle ahead to make a turn. The accident occured at 10 p.m. about four miles west of Edison on Route 95. Minor damage was reported to the truck.

Fights Against Extradition

CLEVELAND (AP) — Attorneys for Frank Cammarata, Warren race-track figure, try in Common Pleas Court here today to block his extradition to Michigan to serve an unfinished term for bank robbery.

Michigan officials arrived here Friday to return Cammarata who was brought to county jail here this week by federal immigration authorities who intended to deport him to Italy.

But the immigration service waived its claims to those of the State of Michigan where Cammarata began serving a term for a bank robbery conviction in 1930. He was paroled in 1936—with a minimum of nine years of his sentence remaining—so he could be deported. But after leaving the country, he returned three years later and lived undetected until 1946. Since then he has succeeded through court action avoiding extradition to Michigan.

The Supreme Court of the U. S. on Monday denied a hearing to Cammarata in his fight to avoid extradition.

Standing on the Promises

A professor of military tactics writes a hymn

Few works of literature represent so wide and as diversified an assortment of authors as does your church hymnal. Between its covers are poems by the old, the young, the rich, the poor, the scholar and the layman. Some of the hymns were written during hours of bliss and happiness, others in times of despair. Some were written by the sick, the lame, the blind, others by normal people in the prime of health. Of the professions represented in your hymnal, there are doctors, lawyers, teachers, farmers, preachers, carpenters, statesmen, soldiers and patriots.

Alfred Tennyson was 80 years old when he wrote "Crossing the Bar." William Ralf Featherstone was 16 when he wrote "My Jesus I Love Thee." "Sweet Hour of Prayer" came from the lips of a blind man who could not write. "O, Worship the King" was written by the wealthy governor of Bombay. And the rich governor of Hong Kong wrote "In the Cross of Christ I Glory."

A circus clown wrote "When They Ring the Golden Bells" and a medical doctor put aside the writing of prescriptions to write "In the Sweet By and By." A helpless invalid wrote "Just As I Am" and a dying actress penned "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

A cardinal of the Roman Catholic Church wrote "Lead, Kindly Light," a Catholic priest wrote "Silent Night" and a man who defied the pope wrote "A Mighty Fortress is Our God." "I Need Thee Every Hour" came from the pen of a happy housewife while a heart-sick orphan girl wrote "The Ninety and Nine."

A six-foot-six giant penned "O Little Town of Bethlehem" and "Joy to the World" came from the quill of a little five-foot dwarf. And so, page after page, they go. As diversified a collection as can be found on any library shelf.

IN ADDITION to the foregoing, can be added such multi-talented individuals as Pennsylvania's R. Kelso Carter. Carter was an accomplished novelist, a professor of tactics at the Pennsylvania Military Academy, an ordained Methodist minister, a musician and licensed medical doctor. As though life did not hold enough interests for him, the versatile Carter took up the writing of church hymns. Here is a number, known the world over, from the pen of R. Kelso Carter, written in 1886 while he was teaching military tactics. Naturally, Carter also wrote the music.

Standing on the promises of Christ my King,
Thro' eternal ages let His praises ring;
Glory in the highest, I will shout and sing,
Standing on the promises of God.

Standing on the promises that cannot fail,
When the howling storms of doubt and fear assail,
By the living word of God I shall prevail,
Standing on the promises of God.

Standing on the promises of Christ the Lord,
Bound to Him eternally by love's strong cord,
Overcoming daily with the Spirit's sword,
Standing on the promises of God.

Standing on the promises I cannot fall,
Listening every moment to the Spirit's call,
Resting in my Saviour, as my all in all,
Standing on the promises of God.

(Chorus)
Standing, standing,
Standing on the promises of God my Saviour;
Standing, standing,
I'm standing on the promises of God.

Father of All the Years

A Sermonette

By DR. L. E. AMES
Pastor of First Evangelical United Brethren Church

Text: Exodus 20:12 "Honor thy father and thy mother . . ."

The nation has not yet gotten around to picking a Father of the Year. However there is to many of us, perhaps to most of us, the Father of All the Years! the faithful, industrious, upright father whom we cherish dearly. He shrinks from the spotlight and prefers to have mother take the bows. He is bashful in the presence of praise. Self-conscious, he asks that no fuss be made over him. Yet he richly deserves our gratitude and in his heart thrills at the kind things we do and say.

The one thing a devoted father deserves most is recognition of the importance of the place which he occupies in the building of the family and the nation. He walks side by side with mother in the sublime task of rearing children. This relation is a blessed partnership in affection and accomplishment. Father's love is co-equal with the mother's in its intrinsic quality and in the ministry it accomplishes. The quality of affection may differ somewhat in expression, but in substance it is just as pure, and sweet and true. Paternal love burns with a pure, white flame, and is not quenched by life's vicissitudes.

Father's labors lie much outside the home, in office, school, factory or store. But it is love, not ambition, that prompts his labor; that keeps him at the task; that sustains him during long laborious days with hope and prospect of returning at evening.

A father's companionship is a primary need of growing children. Nothing in this world can quite take its place. A fatherless child has missed one of the most important privileges in life. (As I write I just heard outside my study window a child's voice call out, "Hi, grandpa!" What a thrill that must bring to an aged father, perhaps one not so aged.) That fishing trip with dad; that hike through the woods and fields; that visit to the museum, the ball game, and the circus! Memories which return like angels to inspire and to comfort!

Blessed is that father, and that son or daughter, who together can face life's questions, exchange viewpoints, compare notes, and find a common ground of knowledge, experience and co-operation. The old virtues are not sacrificed though often they come wearing the garments of newer and modern definitions and expression.

A father's love is tender, forgiving, unchanging. A boy in prison for a crime he had committed received the visit of an old neighbor. "What do my friends say about me?" asked the youth. "They never mention your name," replied the neighbor. "What does my mother say?", the lad continued. The neighbor answered, "Your mother is mortified by what you have done." Finally the boy asked, "What does my father say?" The visitor put into his hands a valuable gift long to be cherished and said, "Your father sends you his love and this."

"Honor thy father," is the word which God speaks to every succeeding generation of sons and daughters. He may seem old-fashioned to you, and odd; but respect him, love him, honor him. You wear his name; his features are indelibly stamped in your body and in your person; you can never escape him as long as you live; he is part of you and you are part of him. Make the most, and the best, of this heritage, whatever it is. Be gracious and forgive the mistakes he has made. Overlook his many faults, and honor him as you prize your position and your prospects in this world and in the world to come. God has commanded all individuals, and nations, and posterity: "Honor thy father and thy mother that thy days may be long in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee."

When Jesus Christ wanted to reveal to human intelligence the highest conception of God, He spoke of God as "Father," and taught his disciples to pray, "Our Father who art in Heaven." Perhaps a God-like father after all, in matters of love, discipline and family providence is the one picture on earth nearest to the reality of God (see Luke 15:11-32.)
